FIRST REVOLT LEADER TAKES REINS IN PERU

Faction in Control Since Leguia Resignation Will Quit.

CERRO SEIZES PLANE AND FLYS TO CAPITAL

Cabinet Members Named Include Seven Naval and Army Men.

FORMER PRESIDENT REPORTED IMPROVING

Uncensored Wires Received in Ecuador Hint of Lima Bloodshed.

Lima, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro, a 41-year-old soldier, who bears wounds from two previous revolutions and has battled the Riffs of Abd-El-Krim in Morocco, came to Lima tonight to take over the government of the republic. He was welcomed with an ovation such as likely no other man in Peru ever heard.

The man who touched off at Arequipa last Friday the spark which started the revolution ending the Augusto B. Leguia regime arrived at 5:05 o'clock this afternoon, landing from a Fawcett line airplane at the Country Club.

Masses of Peruvians shouted "Long live Sanchez Cerro" when this slim man, meek looking, but with an undeniable fire in his eye, left the cabin of the plane.

Military Junta Resigns.

The military junta headed by Gen. Manuel Ponce, which deposed Leguia Monday and took control of the Peruvian government, resigned today in face of the demand for Sanchez Cerro and turned the government over to him.

It was announced that Capt. Carlos Rotalde was the only naval officer and Lieut Col. Rivardo Liona and Col. Eulogio Castillo were the only army officers belonging to the former junta who would be retained in the new cabinet.

A statement made by the officers of the military flying school at Las Palmas said all of the Peruvian army units recognized Sanchez Cerro as their only chief.

The cabinet headed by Col. Sanchez Cerro, as made public today, included Naval Capt. Carlos Rotalde, Lieut. Col. Rivardo Liona, Col. Eulogio Castillo and Majs. de la Barra, del Barco, Gustavo Jiminez and Sologuren.

Military Junta to Quit.

Private advices said that Sanchez Cerro took possession of the committee's airplane for his passage to Lima.

Col. Sanchez Cerro also seized a Peruvian army plane which had been piloted by Capt. Harold B. Grow, an American Naval Reserve officer and chief of the Peruvian flying courses under the Leguia administration.

Meanwhile former President Leguia, facing trial for the alleged misdeeds of his eleven years of rule, was held aboard the Peruvian cruiser Almirante Grau at Callao waiting for definite action by the authorities in Lima.

The former president's health broke down under the strain of his sudden overthrow and detention aboard the cruiser, but today was said to have improved somewhat. Last night it was reported a priest had hurried aboard the vessel in order to administer the sacraments, but today the former president was said to be getting stronger.

Telegrams Bare Bloodshed.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Aug. 27 (A.P.). Indications of bloodshed in Lima were given in telegrams received here today from the Peruvian capital, saying great preparations were being made for the solemn state funeral of students.

No details were contained in the messages, which, by mentioning only the funeral, apparently passed through the strict censorship unmolested, and it is surmised here that these students met death in street fighting in Lima.

(Associated Press.)

The Peruvian Embassy and the State Department closed their offices last night without further definite information concerning the Peruvian situation, as press dispatches from Lima indicated a second overthrow of authority in the capital had been effected.

Ambassador Manuel de Freyre y Santander said he had received no official communications to corroborate press dispatches that the military regime headed by Gen. Manuel Ponce had bowed before the demands of Col. Sanchez Cerro, of the Arequipa stronghold.

Secretary Stimson said the Department of State did not consider the situation in Peru sufficiently clarified for the adoption of a definite attitude by this Government on the problem of recognition.

Meanwhile the Commerce Depart-

Susie and Her Six Raccoon Cubs Entertain at White House Fete

Quadrupeds Provide Fun at Party for Visiting European Lawyers.

Idea May Prove Popular; 3,800 Animals Await Orders of Hoover.

After a day's sojourn at the White House, where they were the star performers at a lawn party for European lawyers, Susie, a 4-year-old raccoon, and her six kittens, or cubs, went back to the Zoo and to papa yesterday, making the trip in an old trunk.

The idea of having raccoons at the party was that of Ike Hoover, who, as head usher, is a sort of stage manager where such affairs are concerned. The animals were sent to him by William H. Blackburn, head keeper at the Zoo, and upon their arrival were placed in the cage that Blackburn built for the unfortunate Rebecca.

In the Coolidge regime, Rebecca was the most famous raccoon in the world. Presented to the President by an admirer, she roamed the White House grounds for many months, and had no end of adventures. Then, mysteriously, she disappeared, and nothing has been heard of her since.

White House Menagerie Gone.

When habitues at the White House first saw Susie surrounded by her little ones, they thought that maybe it was Rebecca, returned home after an affair somewhere. But Ike Hoover quickly spiked that.

Whether it will or not remains to be seen, but the visit of Susie and her family may well be the beginning of an interesting arrangement between the White House and the Zoo. A few years ago, it would not have been necessary to borrow animals for entertainment purposes, for at that time there was a virtual menagerie at the White House, but now all that remain are some dogs.

If the White House does continue to borrow animals from the Zoo, it will have 3,800 to select from, ranging all the way from elephants to white mice, and including the most popular of all entertainers, the black baby gorilla.

One for Every Occasion.

There is an animal for every occasion. For example, if President Hoover wanted to entertain a notable from Australia he might call on Head Keeper Blackburn for a kangaroo. Or if by some social miracle there should be a love feast for Republicans and Democrats he might call for an elephant and a donkey.

The fact is that the Zoo is heavily indebted to the White House, for quite a number of its denizens have been presented by the occupants of that mansion. Among them are King, a 35-year-old ostrich, which was given to President Roosevelt in 1904 by an Abyssinian king; Billy, a pigmy hippopotamus, presented to President Coolidge by Harvey Firestone, and Josef and Johanna, a lion and lioness, which were given to the same executive by the mayor of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Calvin Coolidge

Says: Prosperity does not result from cheap goods but from fair profits.

Reports of food distributors show a very considerable decrease in retail prices. In theory, that is an advantage to all of us. It is the kind of political economy that some have long advocated. But, in practice, the well-to-do scarcely notice it. And many who really would be benefited find that low prices are a delusion, since they do not have enough money to pay them. The gain that comes to the few has to be paid for by the many through a very disproportionate loss in general property values, entire suspension of wages or part-time employment. A small number with a fixed income may benefit from cheap goods sold at a loss but the country as a whole is always injured.

Our ideal is not cheapness in either goods or men. The country is most benefited by a business profit secured through a fair price for commodities and high wages for labor. We expect science and invention to decrease production cost but not to a barren level of cheapness. We want our people so well paid that they can afford to meet the price of prosperity.

ENTERPRISE CHOSEN AS SHAMROCK'S FOE

Only Two Races of Official Trials Held to Decide Cup Defender.

QUICK ACTION SURPRISE

Newport, R. I., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The Enterprise was chosen tonight to defend the America's Cup against Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, Shamrock V. in the yacht races off here next month. The cup committee made the selection.

The Enterprise, skippered by Harold S. Vanderbilt, was chosen by the racing committee of the New York Yacht Club after only two races of the official trials had been held off here. The announcement came as a surprise and was not made until after the skippers and afterguards of all four contenders for the privilege of defending the America's Cup had been notified.

The unsuccessful candidates were Yankee, sailed by Charles Francis Ad-

Mississippi Race Goes to Collins

Representative Keeps Seat in Congress by Victory Over Harrelson.

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Representative Ross A. Collins, of the Fifth District, withstood attacks on his party loyalty and retained his seat for a sixth term by overwhelming Robert S. Harrelson, young Leake County legislator, in Mississippi's Democratic primary of yesterday.

The returns gave him a 3-to-1 victory, the votes being Collins 16,567 and Harrelson 5,563. These results were complete from half of the ten counties and the remainder were near completion with only small boxes still out.

Harrelson had based his campaign on charges that Collins failed sufficiently to support the Democratic ticket in the last presidential election, but the representative stoutly denied the accusation and showed the voters affidavits supporting his activities in behalf of the Smith-Robinson ticket. This was the only congressional contest, Senator Pat Harrison and the other seven representatives were unopposed for the nomination. Nomination is equivalent to election in Mississippi.

GOV. YOUNG RESIGNS RESERVE BOARD JOB

Head of Bank Council Goes to Boston at Increase in Salary.

HOOVER LAUDS RECORD

The resignation of Roy A. Young, of Marquette, Mich., as governor of the Federal Reserve Board, to take effect September 1, was announced at the White House yesterday. At the same time it was made known that he would become governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, a much more remunerative position.

Like many other able men before him, Mr. Young explained that he was compelled to leave the Government service in order to earn more money. As governor of the Federal Reserve Board, he has been receiving $12,000 a year, a sum said to be only a third of what he received when he was governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, his last private post.

The prospect was that President Hoover would take his time about appointing a successor to Mr. Young, but hardly had the resignation been announced when speculation as to the next governor was begun. Among those mentioned were Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, and Henry Dawes, brother of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

Mr. Young's term as governor of the Federal Reserve Board covered one of the most hectic inflation periods in the country's history, the high point of which was the stock market crash of last fall. At that time Mr. Young, who was in favor of boosting the resideount rate and thus slowing up the orgy of speculation, was severely criticized by Wall street bankers, who were in favor of easy credit.

In making public Mr. Young's letter of resignation, President Hoover, through Secretary Walter Newton, also gave out his own letter accepting the resignation. In this, he paid high tribute to Mr. Young's service as head of the Federal Reserve Board. A little later, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon did likewise.

Mr. Young explained at the outset that it was necessary for him to have a more remunerative position. He would have left the Government service earlier, he explained, but was loath to do so while the credit conditions of the country were strained.

"Now, however," he wrote, "it is

BLEASE FACES RUN-OFF FIGHT TO HOLD POST

Senator Has 12,000 Lead With Three-Fourths of Vote In.

JOHNSTON IS FIRST IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

Foe of South Carolina's Road Program Has 14,000 Margin.

BLACKWELL SECOND; LEVER CLOSE BEHIND

Three House Members Who Had Opposition Win Without Difficulty.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—With three-fourths or more of the total vote in yesterday's primary accounted for, a run-off primary was assured tonight Senator Cole L. Blease and former Representative James F. Byrnes for the toga worn by the former since 1925. The second primary will be held September 9.

Tabulation of unofficial returns from 1,186 of the State's 1,528 precincts gave Blease 84,294 votes; Byrnes, 72,160, and Leon W. Harris, of Anderson, 30,173.

In the governor's race supporters of Ira C. Blackwood, Spartanburg, solicitor, and A. Frank Lever, former representative, weighed the chances of the remaining ballots wiping out Blackwood's lead over Lever for the position of runner-up to Olin D. Johnston, who led the field of eight by a wide margin.

Johnston Has 57,173.

The vote for Johnston, Spartanburg World War veteran and opponent of the State's $65,000,000 highway program, climbed slowly to 57,173 in the tabulation of 1,275 boxes. Blackwell held to a margin of approximately 3,000 votes over Lever for second place.

Blackwood, an advocate of tax reform, had 38,764 votes to 35,475 for Lever. A few hundred behind was Ashton H. Williams, young Florence attorney, who ran on a platform favoring prohibition repeal. Fifth place was held by W. H. Keith, Greenville merchant, and critic of the State highway administration.

The three representatives who had opposition won renomination without difficulty. Butler B. Hare, in the Second District, defeated State Senator John P. Williams, of Aiken, and Claud Aman, of Beaufort, who ran an out-and-out wet platform.

Stevenson Wins in Fifth.

Representative W. F. Stevenson in the Fifth District outdistanced Zeb Vance Davidson, of Chester, and in

U. S. GUNBOAT IN CHINA RAKED BY REDS' FIRE

AMERICAN WARSHIP REPLIES TO ATTACK

Nationalist Planes Drop Six Bombs Upon Peiping.

REBELS' STRONGHOLD UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Populace Panic-Stricken as Damage Is Wrought in Forbidden City.

Shanghai, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Reds in the vicinity of Wusueh, Hupeh Province, today attacked the American gunboat Panay, showering it with machine gun bullets. The Panay returned the fire. The damage inflicted upon the attackers was not determined. The gunboat was not damaged.

Peiping, China, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Two Nationalist airplanes flying from Sinanfu dropped six bombs in the Tartar City and the Forbidden City this morning. Only one bomb exploded, inside the Chienmen Gate. No casualties resulted and there was no sign of panic among the Peiping inhabitants.

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The Kuo Min News Agency announced tonight that Peiping, former capital of China and now the stronghold of the Northern rebel alliance, was placed under martial law today following bombardment of the city by four government airplanes.

Populace Panic Stricken.

The agency, which represents the Chinese Nationalist government in the United States, said the planes did considerable damage and, contrary to previous reports, asserted that the populace was panic stricken. The lack of antiaircraft guns enabled the planes to drop their bombs in leisurely fashion.

Martial law was declared, the agency continued, to prevent disturbances by the people, who have suffered greatly from business depression and the fall of silver prices, owing to civil war.

At the same time the Nationalist government announced that it was dissatisfied with the British Minister's reply to its request for deportation and punishment of Lenox Simpson, also known as Putnam Weale, a British subject, who in June took over the Tientsin customs for Yen Hsi-Shan, a Northern leader.

Another Note to Be Sent.

Simpson displaced Col. Hayley Bell, also an Englishman, as commissioner of customs and Nationalists protested strongly.

The government said today that it would direct another note to the British minister and would point out that Simpson not only violated Chinese law but also British law in engaging in seditious work for the rebels.

Bertram Lenox Simpson, better known under his pen name of Putnam Weale, is an English novelist and journalist who first came into fame shortly after the siege of Peiping, then known as Peking, through his book, "Indiscreet Letters From Peking." This book was a diary of the siege and was frank in its criticism of

PILOT, CIVILIAN DIE IN CRASH AT CHICAGO RACES

LIEUT. J. P. DESHAZO.

Deshazo Dived to Death to Forestall Major Disaster, Fliers Say.

SEVEN HURT AS HOT OIL PERILS THRONGS

Brother of Navy Aviator Hears Smash at Radio in Washington.

GOEBEL SECOND TO POST IN AIR DERBY

Hoot Gibson Takes Place in Citizens' Event; Hawks Demonstrates Glider.

Curtiss-Reynolds Airport, Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A racing Navy plane, drumming a thunder of speed, plunged its pilot to flaming death, killed an onlooker, and jeopardized the lives of horror stricken hundreds of spectators at the national air races today.

The dead are Lieut. J. P. Deshazo, of Montevallo, Ala., and Louis Weiner, a Chicago concessionaire. Seven spectators were injured, none seriously.

Turning the last pylon with 16 Navy planes in a 50-mile speed race, Deshazo's plane, hurtling 125 miles an hour, veered crazily as the flier attempted a barrel roll, crashed and burst into flames. He was 100 feet from the ground, and the plane fell a short distance from the south bleachers.

Hot Oil Showers Many.

Weiner was struck by the plane, which dropped in front of his concession stand. Most of the injured were struck by flying missiles when the gasoline tank of the plane exploded. Others were splattered with burning oil.

As the roar of speed changed to a requiem of death, the bleacher spectators scrambled in terrified haste from the stands. Many leaped to safety under the falling shadow of the plane. J. R. McCoy, of Chicago, and his wife fell to their knees as the racer swooped down over them and crashed 20 feet away. They were burned by the shower of hot oil.

It will never be known, but many aviators believed Deshazo went to his death because he maneuvered his plane to prevent striking the bleachers head-on and causing a tragedy of major proportions.

Comrades Pay Tribute.

His comrades took to the air in formation after the crash with a blank file between the dipping ships in a gesture of farewell. Silent crowds read in the act a tribute to heroic action.

Deshazo was one of the best known stunt fliers of the Navy. He was a member of the 1929 battle fleet stunting trio and again this year was a member of a Navy team known as the "Unholy Three."

A parachute saved his life in September, 1929, when his plane failed him on the Coast.

There have been two other accidents at this year's races, but today saw the first fatalities.

Goebel Second in Derby.

After the charred remnants of De Shazo's plane were carted away, the races went on with all their usual flashing speed, the featured event of which was the finish of the Los Angeles to Chicago derby, which was awarded to Wiley Post, Oklahoma City, Okla., flier.

Post was in the van of four entries as they crossed the finish line here yesterday with an elapsed time of 9 hours 9 minutes and 4 seconds, but was not officially named winner until after an unsuccessful attempt by Art Goebel to beat his time today.

Goebel, who arrived at the airport shortly after 5:30 p. m., today, negotiated the distance in 9 hours 21 minutes and 21.4 seconds for second place. Third place went to Lee Schoenhair, of Akron, Ohio, and

700 G.A.R. VETERANS MARCH IN CINCINNATI

Col. Grant Reviews Boys in Blue; Des Moines to Get 1931 Encampment.

REUNION WITH GRAY OFF

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Union veterans of the Civil War shook the years from their shoulders today and marched 700 strong in the sixty-fifth annual parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Their steps slow, feeble and shortened to half the 30 inches they used when they strode down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington before Gen. Grant on their first review in 1865, the veterans required 90 minutes to traverse the mile-long line of march but they did it like soldiers.

Only about half their total strength of 1,500 men found it impossible to march as they had done in past years and made the trip in automobiles.

As they turned "eyes right" toward the reviewing stand, where stood their commander in chief, Edwin J. Fostre, of Worcester, Mass., and Lieut. Col. Ulysses S. Grant 3d, of Washington, grandson of the man who led them at Fort Donaldson, Shiloh, Richmond, and Appomattox, the high spot of the sixty-fourth encampment was over for most of them.

Many, however, looked forward to the annual camp fire tonight in Music Hall, their only opportunity to frolic among themselves, fight the battles of Gettysburg, Chancellorsville and Lookout Mountain all over again, and sing their old battle hymns.

At their business session late today, the veterans decided to meet in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1931. Election of officers for 1931 will take place tomorrow, and the meeting will then be over except for a visit to Grant's birthplace at Point Pleasant, Ohio, on Friday.

James E. Jewell, of Colorado; Harding I. Merrill, of Wichita, Kans., and Smith Stimmel, of Fargo, N. Dak., only surviving members of Lincoln's body guard of Ohio cavalrymen, are being pushed for the commander's post. Jewell is a native of Montgomery County, Ohio, while Stimmel was picked by Gov. Tod, from Franklin County, Ohio, when the Lincoln bodyguard of 100 horsemen and marksmen was chosen.

It was the third G. A. R. parade that Cincinnati has witnessed as the boys in blue gathered here in 1868 and

Mystery Veils Ship In Trio's Long Swim

Coast Guard Unable to Find Trace of Vessel Reported in Distress by Three Who Battled Sea Through Night.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 27 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—It may be that the cargo of merchandise the Francis T., of Halifax carried was the kind that comes twelve quart bottles to the burlap-wrapped bale. And it may be that instead of being on her way to Bermuda she was lying a safe distance off the arid American coast waiting for customers in speed boats to call.

Those are matters which cannot be settled tonight, for only three men know, and they say "no" to both conjectures. And the coast guard cutters which have been swinging back and forth all day in the waters 16 miles south of Absecon Light have been able to find neither the Francis T. nor any wreckage to indicate that she finally sank after eight days of precarious existence following a storm that opened her seams.

But one thing is certain and that is that three starlwart young Nova Scotians staggered out of the surf at 9:30 o'clock this morning and fell on the sand beside Steeplechase Pier, exhausted from hours of swimming in the chill sea. And one other thing may be true, which is that they left, according to their teeth-chattering account, four of their fellows hanging weak and half starved to the shrouds of the Francis T., worn to despair from 180 hours of futile pumping to drain the in-leaking waters from the schooner's belly.

They are Clarence Atkinson, a 27-year-old engineer, and John Larre and Freeman Bonbury, seamen both and both 24 years old, and it is their tale—attested to by their physical condition—that they set out in a dory at midnight last night to row to land for help, that a rough sea overturned the little craft, and that for eight hours, through darkness and dawn, they swam on to shore.

Patrolman Grant Melvin, patrolling the boardwalk, saw them stagger upon the beach this morning, clad only in their shirts and underdrawers, and ran down to find them speechless, blue with cold, faint from hunger, stretched on the sands.

He called a patrol wagon, and in it the three were trundled off to the police station, where coffee and whisky and warm blankets revived them a little. Atkinson, the strongest of the three, told the story. When he was done the police hurriedly called the Coast Guard, and Capt. Clarence Daniels took a cutter out to search for the Francis T.

At 5:30 o'clock this evening he radioed that no trace of the schooner had been found, nor any of the usual debris which tells the story of a foundered ship. But when he returned, early this evening, to the Coast Guard station he expressed the guess that another vessel had come to the schooner's rescue, had taken off the four survivors and had possibly taken the Francis T. under tow.

This raised the problem of what was to be done with the three who swam ashore, a problem which caused much worry for a time but which was finally settled by booking them as aliens who had entered the country illegally—that is without passing the immigration inspection—and calling the immigration authorities to come and get them. Probably they will be returned to Halifax. Not as deportees but as shipwrecked sailors. But in the meantime they'd like to know, in a discreet way, what became of the Francis T. and their four shipmates.

Drought States Told They Must Bear Relief Burden

Banking Representatives Urge That Federal Agencies Be Utilized to Fullest Extent; Formation of Agricultural Credit Agencies Suggested.

(Associated Press.)

Primary responsibility for drought relief was placed upon the affected States yesterday by their banking representatives.

In reporting that the major part of the burden was for the States to bear, bankers recommended that existing Federal agencies which can lend aid be utilized to the fullest extent. They also detailed the help which Government agencies can give.

"We appreciate that these suggestions," the bankers reported, "do not offer that full measure of relief which, unfortunately, seems to be anticipated in many quarters, nor perhaps will such a program fully meet the emergency that exists."

They added that the summary given included, however, all legal means of assistance now available.

Formation of agricultural credit corporations to operate as intermediaries between the farmers and the intermediate credit banks was urged wherever necessary.

Extension of existing agricultural credit corporations and of existing cooperative marketing associations also was recommended in a report to Secretary Hyde, chairman of the national drought relief committee, for transmission to President Hoover.

Existing cooperative marketing associations were advised to avail themselves of "the liberal financial assistance which is offered by the Federal Farm Board." With the report went a summary outlining limits of governmental agencies as defined by law to grant credit or render financial aid in the drought emergency.

These were prepared by officials who conferred with banking repre-

Musicians Refuse Chance To Postpone Movie Strike

Offer of Theater Owners to Extend Present Contracts One Week Declined and Probability of Dark Houses September 1 Grows.

Standing pat on its demand for blanket contracts, the National Musicians Protective Union last night upset what little progress had been made in the local theater owners-musicians' deadlock by refusing to consider the owners' offer to continue existing contracts for one week under present terms.

The owners' association decision to continue contracts expiring September 1 followed a lengthy conference yesterday with officials of the local musicians' union, which is demanding that protective contracts be given its members. After hours of fruitless argument the owners voted to avert a showdown by allowing the three-year contracts expiring September 1 to remain in effect until September 8. Their decision was conveyed to the national musicians' union by A. C. Hayden, president of the local association, but the agreement was voted down.

With a threatened sympathy strike on the part of stage hands and projection machine operators pending, the action of the national musicians' body strengthened the probability that all local motion picture houses would be closed after September 1.

Julian Brylawski, president of the Theater Owners Association, and Charles Kurtzman, general manager of the Fox Theaters, left last night for New York in an effort to avert a situation that is admittedly serious.

The Theater Owners Association has all but admitted that it can do very nicely without musicians, because of the development of the talkies and "canned" music, but faced with the threat of operators' walking out, they admit that the situation is critical.

While neither side would definitely divulge the development, if any, of yesterday's conference, it was under-fourth place to Billy Brock, of Detroit.

Post won a cash prize award of $7,500 and Goebel received $4,500. There were no awards for the other finishes.

Hoot Gibson Second.

Declared the winner of the sportsman pilot's race for civilians only, Jack Quimby, of Moline, Ill., was later disqualified when judges ruled his ship did not comply with the specifications of the event. C. B. Allen, of Kansas City, was named the winner with Hoot Gibson, of movie fame, second, and C. B. Burmood, of Moline, third. Allen's average speed was 110.02 miles per hour.

Bart Stevenson, Moline, Ill., flying a monocoupe at an average speed of 114.47 miles an hour, took first place in the 15-mile race for cabin ships of 275-cubic-inch piston displacement. Burmood placed second in this race, and John Livingston, Aurora, Ill., was third.

The much anticipated 25-mile close course race for women pilots was canceled, as have been three dead stick landing events scheduled for them.

Hawks Shows How.

Dannie Fowlie, of Morris, Ill., won today's dead stick landing event for men. Walter R. Brunken, Maywood, Ill., again placed first in the primary duration glider contest, while P. C. Skeels, entered from Herkimer, N. Y., won the soaring plane duration contest.

Art Chester, Joliet, Ills., was first in the men's daily balloon bursting event.

Capt. Frank Hawks gave an extra demonstration with his glider and performed what appeared to be the difficult feat of landing it in his own pit in front of the grand stand.

Commander Frank B. Wagner, of the United States Navy, appointed a board of navy pilots to investigate the crash of Deshazo's ship. The verdict of the board will be announced in Washington.

Brother Here Hears Crash.

Sidney DeShazo, a brother of the dead man, living in Washington, heard the crash of his brother's plane and learned of his death while listening to the radio. Sidney is a student at George Washington University and lives at 2424 E street northwest.

The dead man has another brother, Lieut. Thomas Deshazo, U. S. A., stationed in Honolulu and a sister, Mrs. P. M. Norton, of Red Level, Ala.

Early in the summer the Navy pilot crashed near Camp Meade, Va., while flying in the Curtis Marine Trophy races. He emerged from this accident unscathed, however.

He was born in Bridgeton, Ala., in 1901, and entered the Naval Academy in 1921. He was a member of the Naval Rifle Team. Three years after graduation he entered aviation, being attached to the "Red Rippers" squadran aboard the airplane carrier Lexington.

His brother said last night that no funeral arrangements have been made, but that the body of the dead flier will probably be buried in Arlington National Cemetery.

RAIN IN BALTIMORE IS HEAVY BUT BRIEF

Downpour Visits City and Part of Anne Arundel, but Skips Frederick.

CROP BENEFIT UNKNOWN

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Old Man Drought, in the sixty-second day of his reign was dealt a body blow in Baltimore and vicinity today when the heaviest rain in more than two months came out of nearly a clear sky and then departed, leaving no hope for continuation.

With but four days to go to be accorded the dubious honor of being the driest August on record, the city, Baltimore County and part of Anne Arundel County were dampened with .46 inch of rain shortly after noon, the heaviest precipitation since June 26, when .66 of an inch fell.

How much good was done to crops by the rain was not known, although it visited the vicinity of Annapolis, where county commissioners were pondering a report that crop damages would exceed the preliminary estimate of $1,500,000.

The showers did not visit Frederick, according to the Weather Bureau here, where the total deficiency in precipitation for the year was set at 15.07 inches. The records showed each month since January 1 had been below normal in the amount of rain which fell, the month of July shattering all records for dryness.

Both Anne Arundel and Frederick County residents still are on restricted water consumption.

John R. Weeks, local meteorologist, said the weather for the next 48 hours would be fair and possibly warmer.

Staunton Man Guilty Of Swindling Nurses

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 27.—Dwight Snyder, Staunton, Va., was convicted in Municipal Court today and given six months' sentence on State roads on being convicted of swindling a number of local nurses out of money paid on insurance policies. However, sentence was suspended when Snyder's wife arrived with funds sufficient to make full restitution.

Snyder was charged with selling insurance policies to the nurses in a company which had no existence. The policy promised to pay a sick benefit to the nurses if they became ill. Chief of Police C. W. Hollis located Snyder in Ohio and had him brought here for trial.

Rail Agent Thanked For Preventing Holdup

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 27.—Frank W. Snyder, this city, agent of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Lexington, Va., is being commended for bravery and coolheadedness by high company officials in preventing robbery of the Lexington station.

While Snyder was alone in the ticket office early in the morning a young man, with handkerchief over his face, appeared with pistol in hand and demanded contents of the money drawer. Instead of complying, Snyder continued at his work. A little later he reached for the telephone to call the police, whereupon the stranger fled. Snyder, however, obtained a good description of him.

Four French Military Fliers Killed in Crash

Dijon, France, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A pilot, two non-commissioned officers and the wireless operator of a military airplane were killed early today when their machine crashed near Corcelles-Les-Monts, a few miles West of here.

Two other members of the crew saved their lives by parachutes. They escaped with slight injuries. Ten military aviators have lost their lives in France within a few hours. Last night while in defense maneuvres six army fliers were killed when they cracked up at Chavannes, near Chartres.

ARLINGTON SEEKS CUT IN GAS PRICE

Present Rate Held Too High After Survey by County Commission.

MAN HELD FOR ROBBERY

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

A considerable reduction in the gas rates in Arlington County should be made by the Rosslyn Gas Co., according to the Public Utilities Commission of Arlington County that has been making an analysis of the conditions in the county. One of the causes of the present high rate of $1.50 per 1,000 feet is the wholesale rate imposed by the Washington company upon its Arlington County subsidiary, it was stated at a meeting of the commission last night. A reduced rate in the county would still yield the company a reasonable return on its investment, it is claimed. It was voted that officials of the company be interviewed and asked to make a reduction at an early date. Chairman James Head and Secretary C. I. Kephart, of the commission, will seek this interview. If they should be unsuccessful in securing what they deem to be a reasonable rate, it will be necessary to seek authority to proceed before the State Corporation Commission.

The utilities commission is also analyzing the extent of the saving that will be afforded consumers by the new electric light schedule of the Virginia Public Service Co. over the old schedule. It is believed that the citizens of Arlington County are not being acorded the benefit of their location in the metropolitan district of Washington, and that lower rates should have been named by the company in its recent reduction.

A reduction in the present 10-cent toll telephone charge between the Clarendon and Alexandria exchanges also will be asked by the commission, and the secretary was directed to write the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. accordingly. With respect to the general telephone service in the county, a ballot will be inserted in the local newspaper asking an expression from the citizens as to whether they prefer the present plan with an unlimited number of local calls and the 5-cent toll charge to Washington, or local service with a monthly limit on the number of calls and abolition of the toll charge to Washington and Alexandria. It is hoped that a large number of responses will be received, for the guidance of the commission in the matter.

William Keys, alias William Johnson, of Manassas, Va., was arrested by Special Policeman William H. Thompson, of Arlington County, early yesterday morning. Under cross-examination by the police the man is said to have admitted that he had robbed the Sanitary at Park Lane last week. A large portion of the alleged stolen goods were recovered by the police. The man is being held without bond at the Arlington County jail charged with two cases of housebreaking.

Whether the town of Falls Church can cooperate with the State Highway Commission in the widening of Lee highway within the corporation limits was the question discussed at a meeting of the members of the town council and a group of leading citizens at the home of Mayor-elect Maj. L. P. Daniels.

It was stated that the members of the East Falls Church Citizens Association have been informed by State engineers that the State Highway Commission had been unable to obtain the necessary right-of-way for the road and the commission is planning on diverting a portion of the money appropriated for the work to the improvement of other roads in the county so that the money will not lapse previous to the end of the year.

The State engineers have been surveying the highway from Halls Hill, where the widening stopped last year through Falls Church as far as Broad street and it has been understood by many persons along the highway that the commission has planned to add a 6-foot strip of concrete on each side of the present macadam roadway.

Maj. Daniel reported that he had not been able to arrange for a meeting with Chairman H. T. Shirley, in Richmond, this week, and the action of the town will be postponed until after the new town council meets Monday. He requested the citizens of the town, who are interested in having the Lee highway widened, be present at the meeting Monday and report whether the land owners will give the additional right of way or not.

Several persons present at the meeting prophesied that if such an improvement were made the population of the town would double within the next ten years, thereby increasing the revenue more than enough to pay off any indebtedness. Harry A. Fellows made the suggestion that the town set aside three-fourths of the money for street work for the next two years to assist in improving the highway within the corporation.

A search is being made in Arlington County for a man who gave his name as J. A. Carter at the Fireman's carnival at Fort Myer Heights last week. The firemen are searching for him so that they may give him the prize he won by guessing the name of the doll which was on display at the carnival.

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace E. Thompson, who died suddenly Monday evening at her home, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 20 Beech street, Clarendon. She is survived by her husband, Frank A. Thompson; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred C. Miller, of Washington, and three sons, Richard L. Thompson, Francis E. Thompson and Wilbur V. Thompson.

The interment will take place at the Colonial Gardens cemetery.

The funeral services for Edward Patrick McGrath, 43, who died suddenly Monday at his home in Fort Myer Heights, will be held at 9 o'clock this morning at the Saint Charles Catholic Church in Clarendon. He is survived by his widow, Louise K. McGrath. The interment will take place in the Arlington National Cemetery. Mr. McGrath had served 17 years in the army prior to his resignation and entering business at Fort Myer Heights about 11 years ago.

Shamokin Miners Strike.

Shamokin, Pa., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—More than 600 miners employed in the Burnside and Sterling collieries of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Co. went on strike today after company officials declined to promise them full-time work. It was stated the strike was not authorized by the miners' district union office.

TODAY ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST RAILROAD

Initial Practical Locomotive in America Tested on August 28, 1830.

MADE TRIP OF 15 MILES

Today is the one-hundredth anniversary of the operation of the first practical steam locomotive in the country, which was the "Tom Thumb" engine of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. This engine, built by Peter Cooper, ran over the 15-mile stretch from Baltimore to Ellicott Mills on August 28, 1830.

Cooper built the "Tom Thumb" in spite of the failure of three earlier engines which had been imported from England. His locomotive, too, was a failure on its first trip in 1829, but, with the assistance of two young mechanics, he was able to prove its practicability in the following year.

On the first trip the engine took an hour and fifteen minutes to make the 15 miles, pulling several cars loaded with passengers. Among these were Charles Carroll, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence. On the return trip the historic engine made the run in 57 minutes.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co., the oldest railway in the country, was established to link the Ohio river with the navigable waters of Chesapeake Bay.

Residents of the Maryland city needed a line of communication which would reach the interior if they were to keep pace with New York. New York, the sea terminus of the newly established Erie canal, found its commerce growing by leaps and bounds, and its growth worried the Baltimoreans.

They were therefore ready to welcome the suggestion of Peter Cooper, himself a Baltimore man, that they build a railroad and use steam for motive power. Cooper was not a mechanical man, but he had faith that steam power could replace the horse-drawn vehicles which had been used on the short railroads which had previously existed. And the "Tom Thumb" was the proof of his faith.

Kiwanians to Meet In Braddock Heights

Kiwanians from Cumberland, Frederick and Hagerstown, Md.; Winchester, Va., and Charlestown and Martinsburg, W. Va., will hold an interclub meeting at Braddock Heights, Md., today. Jesse H. Binford, of Richmond, governor of the Capital Kiwanis district, which includes the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia and Delaware, and Dr. W. H. S. White, Shepherdstown, governor of the West Virginia Kiwanis district, will [illegible] address the meeting.

This meeting will also include outdoor sports with dancing following a picnic supper. The evening program includes a special presentation of surprise stunts under the sponsorship of each participating club. A loving cup will be presented to the club who stages the best event.

RELIEF BURDEN SET ON DROUGHT STATES

sentatives of more than a dozen State drought relief committees, and included members of the Federal Farm Loan Board, Federal Farm Board, Federal Reserve Board, Department of Agriculture and the Treasury Department.

"We view it as unfortunate," the report said, "that the impression has gone abroad that there are Federal funds available on other than a sound credit basis."

Local bankers were charged with the "primary duty" in relief work, bankers here explaining that conditions vary in the affected States, and that "no general rule would be applicable to respective States, or for that matter, to individuals in respective communities."

Local bankers were advised to utilize their credit with correspondent banks and to offer for rediscount all eligible paper to the Federal Reserve Bank or the intermediate credit bank operating in their respective territories.

Typhoid Treatment Given Many.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 27 (Special).—As a preventive measure prompted by drought conditions in this section, from 400 to 600 persons are receiving treatment daily at various public clinics throughout this county for typhoid immunization. At five clinics in one day 574 persons were treated, according to Dr. V. A. Selby, Harrison County health director.

Alexandria Rainmakers Refuse Responsibility

Don't blame the rain on Alexandria's rainmakers. They plead innocence.

When the showers broke yesterday afternoon suspicion was directed toward the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, which has been threatening to make rain while the hay burns.

"Have you been making the rain fall?" a reporter asked of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce office girl.

"No," she replied, "our airplane has not obtained the sprayer to spread the rain-making powder."

"Well, it's raining in Washington."

"Don't blame us for it," she answered. "Our airplane hasn't been off the ground. Furthermore, it's not raining in Alexandria. When we need rain we'll make our own, thank you."

CUMBERLAND HAILS GOVERNOR AT FAIR

Ritchie Praises Exhibits of Cattle and Corn; Honor Guest at Dinner.

FLEECE GAMES STOPPED

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Aug. 27.—Twenty thousand people were on the Cumberland fair grounds today. Gov. Albert C. Ritchie praised the exhibition, especially the cattle and corn display. He was introduced by City Commissioner Herbert Lee Blye.

The governor arrived with Judge Robert E. King, of juvenile court, and an escort of State and city police. He was reluctant at first to talk, telling General Manager Manley that political significance might be attached, while he was merely a guest, but he was assured that no such construction would be put on what he might say.

Gov. Ritchie then mingled among the crowd and was introduced to hundreds by Judge King. He went to the fair for "Governor's day," after he had been a guest at a race breakfast at the home of Thomas B. Finan. The city was deserted as a half holiday was observed, business places and public buildings being closed in answer to a proclamation by Mayor Thomas W. Koon. Several thousand were in attendance from Pennsylvania and West Virgina.

Concessions Are Closed.

The midway was thronged and exhibition halls were crowded. Sheriff William R. Harvey and deputies closed six places on the midway after complaints had been made that unfair games were being operated. He said that persons had lost heavily, some as high as $150.

At the opening Monday he had warned certain concessionaires that no fleece game would be allowed.

The permanent Red Cross Hospital, in charge of Mrs. Grace Hughes Mitchell, was busy. She had a first aid assistant every day with a number of Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts on constant duty. The most serious case was that of A. Gordon, whose horse fell on him today, breaking his shoulder. He was later removed to Memorial Hospital.

Zihlman in Attendance.

Among those in daily attendance at the fair is Representative Frederick N. Zihlman, Republican candidate for reelection. Mayor Broening, of Baltimore, Republican candidate for governor, will be the guest of the fair management Friday and Saturday.

Attorney General Thomas H. Robinson, candidate for reelection on the Democratic ticket, is here with Gov. Ritchie, whose visit terminated this evening with a dinner given in his honor at the Fort Cumberland Hotel by Clinton Uhl, of Mount Savage, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission; Ferman C. Pugh, chairman of the Allegany County Board of Education, and Henry Shriver, president of the First National Bank. Covers were laid for about 50.

Seaplane Is Forced Down.

Seaside Park, N. J., Aug. 27 (A.P.). A seaplane flying the regular route between New York and Atlantic City was forced down tonight, landing in the ocean about 200 yards from shore. A woman passenger was brought by Coast Guards and the plane taxied south under its own power. No one was injured.

Plant to Resume Operations.

Rowlesburg, W. Va., Aug. 27 (Special).—After shut-down of three months, the Manheim plant of the Alpha Portland Cement Co., will resume operations Monday, the management announces.

VIRGINIA'S HIGHWAY BODY WINS VERDICT

C. K. Myers Fined for Cutting Down Signs Banning Auto Stops on Right of Way.

MANY MEETINGS TODAY

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The State highway commission was upheld yesterday by Justice of the Peace A. C. Ritchie at Fairfax on charges brought by Resident Engineer R. I. Mount, of the State highway commission against C. K. Myers, of Tysons Cross Roads. The case had been pending since May 24, when Myers was charged with cutting down certain signs erected by the State highway forces forbiddnig motorists to stop on the State right of way when having gasoline placed in their cars.

Myers admitted that he had cut down the signs, which he claimed were placed in line with his gas tanks. He testified that these tanks had been placed there several years ago in accordance with the line given him by the county engineer at that time.

A nominal fine of $5 and costs was assessed against Myers, as the State was primarily interested in establishing the line of the right of way and the ability to control the use of its right of way.

The Ladies Social Club of the St. John's Catholic Church at El Nido will hold its meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Kraemer, in Franklin Park. They will make their final plans for the country dinner, which is to be given on September 16.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren at Oakton will meet this afternoon in the church house to discuss plans for the coming months.

The Kenmore Council of the Daughters of America will hold its meeting this evening in the auditorium of the school house at Andrew Chapel.

The West Falls Branch of the Womans Auxiliary of Falls Church will hold its meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Esther Gilbert.

The special committee of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Timothy's Episcopal Church at Herndon will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alexander Galt to pack a box with garments for the mountain mission field. The committee is composed of Mrs. George F. Harrison, Mrs. W. W. Wyatt, Mrs. E. Barbour Hutchison and Mrs. James Rogers.

The Fairfax County Firemen's Association will hold its meeting this evening in the fire engine house at Falls Church. President J. H. Beattie, of McLean, who is away on his vacation, has requested R. E. Nickell, president of the Fairfax Volunteer Department to preside in his absence. It is expected that members will discuss the question of the necessary equipment which they will ask the county board of supervisors to provide out of the tax levy for fire protection which will be available this fall. The drought situation that exists in the county will also be discussed in reference to fires and fire hazards, also the lack of water in most sections of the county to combat the fires.

Scottish Rite Masons Banquet in Winchester

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 27.—Scottish Rite Masons from many sections of Virginia gathered here last night for a banquet, served by the Order of the Eastern Star. Covers were laid for about 100. H. B. McCormac was toastmaster, and George F. Norton, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Speakers included the Rev. Dr. Charles Noyes Tyndell, Terra Haute, Ind., thirty-third degree, and the following from Alexandria: Charles H. Callahan, C. C. Wenrich, H. H. Porter, the Rev. Edgar Carpenter, the Rev. Dr. William McDougal and the Rev. Dr. Ellis.

Harpers Ferry School Corner Stone to Be Laid

Special to The Washington Post.

Charles Town, W. Va., Aug. 27.—The corner-stone laying at the new Harpers Ferry High School will take place on Monday afternoon, September 1, at 3:30 o'clock. The exercises will be conducted by the Masonic Grand Lodge of West Virginia, Logan Lodge of Harpers Ferry having charge.

Dr. Dorsey C. Peck, of Grafton, grand master of West Virginia, and the Rev. Frank T. McFaden, of Winchester, Va., grand master of Virginia, will have charge of the exercises. Dr. McFaden, grand master of Virginia, is a native of Harpers Ferry.

MURDER CAR GIVEN TO REV. T. F. BAKER

Slain Woman's Father Says He Has No Ill Feleing Toward Campbell.

UNWILLING TO SEE HIM

There is no rancor in the mind of the Rev. Thomas F. Baker against Herbert M. Campbell, indicted for the slaying of Mary E. Baker on April 11.

The Rev. Mr. Baker received custody of the automobile in which the Government says the slain woman met her death on April 11. Although the aged Oak Grove, Va., clergyman will not venture any opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the Arlington County real estate man, he does not wish to see him.

"I will leave the question of culpability to a jury. Campbell will get a fair trial, and I am certain that the truth will prevail," said the bereaved father.

"What am going to do with the car? I haven't decided. I will probably not use it for a long while. I did not wan it to fall into strange hands."

As he looked into the blood-stained interior of the automobile, he said meditatively, "If that car could only talk what a gruesome story it could tell." Dr. Baker feared that the car would be placed into the hands of some individual who would exploit the car, so he came to claim it.

Voices His Faith.

The aged minister remained calm as he recounted details of the crime. "After all," he sighed, "time will close all wounds, but what hurts us more deeply than her death were the asperions cast upon her character as a result of the investigation. However, I am sure that every one now believes, and it has been proven, that Mary was a chaste and pure girl as we knew she was."

In the event that Campbell is brought to trial for the murder, Dr. Baker, does not expect to attend unless the prosecution so wishes. If the defense needs the car as an exhibit he is willing to let them have it at the trial.

Since the death of his daughter, Dr. Baker has tried to fill the void in the family circle by keeping his sons and daughters closer to home. Dr. Baker's request that his son, Charles, who is in the Coast Guard Service, be moved nearer to Oak Grove, was granted by Read Admiral F. C. Billard.

Baker Thanks Officials.

New London, Conn. Admiral Billard had him shifted to Virginia Beach, which is a few hours' ride from Oak Grove. Virginia and William, his two younger children, are at home. Another daughter, Martha, is in South Carolina, and his oldest son, Thomas, is a radio operator on a ship line running from Aalabama to New York.

The Rev. Mr. Baker was brought to Arlington County yesterday by Carl Homer and Carl Griffith, two of his parishioners at Oak Grove. Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth gave him the keys to the automobile, which has been stored in the garage of Arthur M. Dawson, of Lyon Village, Va., since soon after the murder.

The Rev. Mr. Baker thanked the authorities for their kindness to him since the investigation began.

School to Build New Power Dam

Institution at Batesville Has Received Gift for This Work.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 27.—Superintendent J. W. Lapsley, of the Miller Manual Labor School, located near Batesville, this county, today announced the gift of $10,000 to that institution for the rehabilitation of the dam furnishing water and power to the plant. The donor is W. Lewis Johnson, of Forest Hills, N. Y., an alumnus who has been among the school's most enthisiastic supporters since his graduation.

Mr. Lapsley also stated that the contract for the work has been awarded Fox Bros., contractors, of Greenwood, this county, and that construction would be commenced as soon as material could be gotten on the ground.

The old dam, which is now practically out of commission, was erected in 1897-98. It was never adequate for the use of the school and has been totally unsatisfactory for a number of years. The new dam will not only effect a great saving by furnishing water power for the plant, but will give an ample supply of water for other purposes. The dam is situated at the headwaters of Mehum's River, a little more than three miles from Miller School.

Front Royal Has First Heavy Rain Since April

Special to The Washington Post.

Front Royal, Va., Aug. 27.—Front Royal had its heaviest rain last night since early April. The rain began with a downpour and weakened into a drizzle, about an inch of rain falling. While coming too late to help the hay and corn crop in this county, it will greatly help the parched pastures where many cattle are grazed.

Many persons are replanting their gardens in the hope that something can still be raised before the cold weather sets in. Gardens all failed throughout this section.

Merged Banks Opened For Business in Sutton

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 27. — A merger having been satisfied by stockholders, the Exchange Bank of Burnsville moved to Sutton today and opened business with the Home National Bank of that town.

The new institution, which is known as the Home National Bank of Sutton, has combined resources of $1,250,000, and L. R. Charter, State bank commissioner, said today that it is one of the strongest banks in the State.

CATHOLIC ALUMNAE OFFICERS ELECTED

International Group Honors Brooklyn Woman at Emmitsburg.

HOLY SOUND FILM SHOWN

Emmitsburg, Md., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Mrs. Phillip Brennan, of Brooklyn, was elected president of the International Federatoin of Catholic Alumnae at today's session of the ninth biennial convention of St. Joseph's College. Mrs. Brennan succeeds Mrs. Mary Blake Finan, of Chicago, who had served two terms. The new president, an alumna of St. John's Academy, Indianapolis, inaugurated Mary's Day, set aside on the eve of Mother's Day, to honor the Mother of Mankind.

Others elected were Mrs. Harry P. Roesler, Toronto, governor of the Ontario Chapter, first vice president; Mrs. Alfred C. Whitton, Washington, second vice president, and Mrs. E. M. Holmes, Norfolk, third vice president.

Miss Helen Reed O'Neill, of Brooklyn, was chosen recording secretary; Miss Ruth Finneran, Columbus, Ohio, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William H. Connell, Pittsburgh, treasurer, and Mrs. S. Paul Stock, Denver, and Miss Margurit Linahan, Omaha, trustees.

The first sound motion picture ever made of a Catholic religious service was shown to members of the Teaching Sisterhoods at the convention last night.

The picture consisted of a prologue explaining the benediction service and followed by the actual benediction. Patrick Cardinal Hayes, of New York, also was shown in a short talk on development of Catholic education in America.

Adherents of the view that Catholic schools do not measure in scholarship with secular schools were called unfair in an address by the Rev. William J. Ruerl, regent of Loyola University, New Orleans.

"A string of degrees after a person's name indicate a scholar," he said, "but it does not necessarily indicate a teacher.

"If prayers and works of charity did not take up so much of the religious teachers' time they would fill the libraries of the world with learned works."

Federal control of education was hit by Miss Agnes R. Regan, of Washington, chairman of the Federation's Legislation Committee.

Rain Causes Horse to Runaway.

Winchester, Va., Aug. 27 (Special). Frightened by a shower of rain, first it had experienced in many months, a horse attached to a light wagon broke loose late yesterday and dashed madly through several suburban streets. Vehicular traffic gave the rampaging animal a wide berth. The runaway created a great deal of excitement, it being the first thrill of the kind experienced here in recent years.

H. L. MENCKEN WEDS WRITER FROM SOUTH

Bachelor Iconoclast Takes Wife, Advancing Date Originally Set.

PASTOR PERFORMS RITE

Baltimore, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Miss Sara Powell Haardt, of Montgomery, Ala., and H. L. Mencken, author and editor, were married here unexpectedly today. When the engagement was announced several weeks ago, September 3 was set as the wedding date.

The ceremony, according to the Episcopal Rite, was performed at the Church of St. Stephen the Martyr by the Rev. Dr. Herbert Parrish, formerly rector of St. Luke's Church of this city, but now a resident of New Brunswick, N. J. Dr. Parrish is a long time friend of Mr. Mencken and came to Baltimore for the wedding.

Only the immediate families were present at the ceremony, following which the couple left on a short bridal trip. There were no attendants. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Charles Wickliffe Stevenson, of Cincinnati, temporarily a resident of Ruxton, Md.

Before leaving Baltimore Mr. Mencken said that on their return he and Mrs. Mencken would live in an apartment they have taken on Cathedral street.

Mencken, editor of the American Mercury, and author of numerous books of criticism, has been known for years as a champion of bachelorhood. He gave his age as 49 in applying for the marriage license last week, and that of Miss Haardt as 32.

The bride, a graduate of Goucher College, Baltimore, and a resident of Baltimore for several years, has written for periodicals for several years and recently her first novel was accepted for publication.

King's Daughters Issue State Convention Call

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 27.—Preliminary plans have been completed and the official call sent out for the annual State convention of the King's Daughters of West Virginia, a foreign missionary society affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal Church, which will be held here September 23 and 24.

Mrs. Jacob Brittingham, of Wheeling, is State president.

FLORIDA DEATH PLOT IS AIRED AT HEARING

Capone Lawyer Says Killing of Governor Was to Be Laid to Gang Chief.

TELLS OF GAMING PLAN

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Testimony about an alleged conspiracy to assassinate Gov. Doyle E. Carlton, and of counter moves by friends of the governor and an attorney for Alphonse Capone to obtain evidence, was presented today at a preliminary hearing for three men charged with the conspiracy.

Clem Dowling, former roommate of Frank Ralls, one of the defendants, testified that Ralls told him of the alleged plot, and also named Henry Halsema and Fred O. Eberhardt, Tallahassee publisher, as conspirators. Dowling said he exposed the plot to prevent the murder of the governor, and "to save Ralls from the electric chair."

Vincent C. Giblin, former circuit court judge and attorney for Capone, related that he came into the case as an investigator because Dowling said Ralls asserted that the slaying was to be laid to Capone's men.

"Sore at Governor."

Giblin said Capone asked him to look into the matter after Dowling related details of the plot to J. Fitzgordon, another Capone attorney.

Dowling said Ralls told him that when a new governor took office Eberhardt was to get control of the State road department, Ralls was to be State automobile license commissioner and Halsema was to get the Jacksonville tag agency.

Giblin testified that Ralls told him three men were "sore at the governor" and had planned to "bump him off." He said Eberhardt broached a plan to get control of several Florida newspapers and have Capone put up the money. He said he made an appointment with Eberhardt to go to Chicago and discuss the plan with the gang chief.

Removal of Sheriff.

Giblin's recitation of his meetings with Ralls was mostly a detailing of gatherings in hotel rooms. At one conference Giblin said he told Ralls that "if I could get the governor to remove the sheriff of Dade County and let us limit gambling to three or four places we could get an enormous profit."

Ralls said Eberhardt told him that he (Eberhardt) had talked to Bill Shands, member of the State road board department, about the gambling plans, and that Shands had agreed and thought it could be done for $75,000, which was to be split between Shands, George B. Hills and Ernest Graham, the two other members of the road department.

FOUR ESCAPE INJURY IN AUTO CRASH

Not even a piece of glass was broken and these four persons miraculously escaped injury yesterday afternoon when the sedan in which they were riding skidded and turned over on the Conduit road near Forty-fifth street northwest during the rainstorm. The party was returning from Great Falls. Left to right: Edward Croce, Bessie Croce, driver of the car; Lillian Clements and Miss Carrie Roth.

$220,000 RUM CARGO AND TEN MEN SEIZED

Smuggling Charges; Snarl Is Seen. Is Seen.

OUTSIDE LIMIT, IS CLAIM

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Loaded to the gunwales with first-rate liquor and malt valued at $220,000, the trim Canadian sea dory Nova V was brought into the harbor today by the Coast Guard boat Cardigan, after her capture yesterday within the 12-mile limit off Shinnecock, Long Island.

Capt. William Kaulbach and his crew of nine were under arrest and will be arraigned on charges of smuggling. The task of discharging the cargo began at once.

The Nova V, a motor-driven craft valued at $50,000 and capable of doing 22 knots, was overhauled by the patrol boat after a chase of half a mile, during which one round of shot was fired.

A difficult legal problem was foreseen by customs officials in the statement of counsel for the prisoners that his clients had committed no crime because they were outside the 3-mile limit, had not had contact with the shore, and had not transferred their cargo to another vessel. The captain insisted he was en route to Bermuda and lost his bearings.

Industrial Home Boys Escape.

Edward Burgess and Eugene Copeland, both 14 and nmates of the Industrial Home School for Boys, ran away from the institution yesterday. Both were clothed in the regulation blue shirt and khaki trousers.

Four Are Unhurt As Car Overturns

Windows Are Used as Exits After Wheels Lock in Making Turn.

Four persons miraculously escaped injury when the large sedan in which they were riding overturned on Conduit road near Forty-fifth street northwest, yesterday afternoon, while returning to the city after a trip to Great Falls.

Mrs. Bessie Croce, 30 years old, of 1726 B street southeast, the driver of the car, reported to police at Seventh Precinct that the wheels apparently locked themselves and that she was unable to control the car while making the turn.

The passengers besides Mrs. Croce, who were forced to climb out of the windows of the car, were Edward Croce, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Croce; Lillian Clements, 12 years old, of Richmond, and Miss Carrie Roth, 40 years old, of 932 New York avenue northwest. The fire rescue squad responded on the accident, but the passengers were out of the car by the time they arrived at the scene. The car received minor damages.

PERU REBEL LEADER REACHES LIMA BY AIR

ment received a communication from Commercial Attache C. H. Cunningham at Lima, who sent the text of the junta manifesto in so far as it dealt with the preservation of the present economic status in Peru.

He quoted the manifesto as stating that all foreign interests would be respected. The meat and match monopolies would be canceled, he said, though the manifesto promised to indemnify those whose property rights would be affected in the cancelation.

Mr. Cunningham's cable said the junta had promised to respect Peru's foreign obligations and that the necessary steps to terminate the present economic depression in the country would be taken. Liberty of the press also was guaranteed in the manifesto, which promised to aid local industries and maintain the gold standard and metallic reserve of the country.

Mr. Cunningham added that the general situation in Peru was uncertain, Lima and Callao were virtually in a state of siege, his dispatch said, though the embargo laid down on the Fort of Mollendo on August 23 had been lifted, and industrial conditions in the north of the republic might be considered normal.

Man Loses Teeth in Fight.

Suffering three broken teeth and bruises, William V. Voorhees, 16 years old, of Seventh street near N street northwest, was taken to Emergency Hospital last night for first aid. Police later arrested Edward Markawitz, 23 years old, of Kenyon street near Sixth street northwest and charged him with assault.

GERMAN SEA FLIERS' PLANE IS ADJUSTED

Flight to Midwest Cities Is to Start Tomorrow; Reception Today.

CAPITAL IS HEARD FROM

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau's transatlantic sky whale was turned from an arctic to a temperate zone plane today in preparation for a flight to Buffalo, Chicago and Cleveland.

When the flying boat arrived from Germany yesterday Capt. Von Gronau said he would fly if it was found feasible to do so with an engine which had been adjusted for the frigid temperatures of Iceland and Greenland.

Today Franz Hack, the whale's mechanic, went to the East River police hangar, where the ship is berthed, and worked for several hours on the ignition and carbureter. When his task was done it was announced the boat would start West Friday.

Tomorrow there will be an official reception to the four fliers at City Hall and a luncheon at the Advertising Club. Friday morning the fliers will take off to fly over Niagara Falls and land in the lake at Buffalo. Saturday they will continue to Chicago, flying over the Curtiss-Reynolds Airport, where the national air races are in progress, and landing in the lake. They will stay in Chicago over Sunday, going Monday to Cleveland to witness the start of the James Gordon Bennett international balloon races on Tuesday. They will return here Tuesday.

Telegraphic congratulations were received today from several departments in Washington and from Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who was at the national air races in Chicago.

No decision was reached today as to how long the fliers will stay in America or how they will return, though it was indicated they probably would go by steamer, either taking their flying boat with them or disposing of it here.

McMurray G. O. P. Hope For Idaho Governor

Idaho Falls, Idaho, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—John McMurray, Oakley farmer, stockman and banker, will carry the Republican banner into the fall election as gubernatorial candidate. Opposing Mayor C. Ben Ross of Pocatello, Democratic candidate for the second consecutive campaign.

McMurray and Ross were selected by their respective parties at State conventions today, the Republicans in session here and the Democrats at St. Anthony. Both received unanimous support on the first ballots.

Dawes, on His Back, Views Spanish Cavemen Paintings

Ambassador to Great Britain Spends 65th Birthday Visiting Santander Museums, Nearby Grottoes and Talking Archeology With Duke of Alba.

Santander, Spain, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, who temporarily has dropped his cares as Ambassador to Great Britain to survey the handiwork of the cavemen who roamed this part of Spain thousands of years ago, spent his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary flat on his back in the historic Altamira Caves.

The American statesman was on his back because that was the only way he could take a comfortable look at the paintings on the stone ceiling, done there between 10,000 and 20,000 years ago by men of the paleolithic age. His famous underslung pipe was going strong all the time.

"What do you wish to see most?" Gen. Dawes was asked as he entered the cave.

"The bones of the woolly rhinoceros," he replied.

This quaint beast, with the bison, the reindeer, the wild boar, and other animals, roamed this country when what are now London and Paris were covered with glaciers and the ice age extended to the Pyrenees.

The general had his wish, for some one pointed out the bones of the strange prehistoric animal.

Besides thoroughly inspecting the caves, the ambassador visited several museums, and between times had interviews with the Duke of Alba, Spanish foreign minister, mostly concerning their common hobby of archeology. The duke said Spain was much pleased with Gen. Dawes' interest in the country's prehistoric treasures.

Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, of Yale University, director of the American School for Prehistoric Research and a member of today's party, pointed out that not only was today the ambassador's birthday anniversary, but that this year marked the one hundredth anniversary of what scientists considered the beginning of definite knowledge of prehistoric men. It was in 1830 that the Swedish Scientist Thomsen announced the scientific fact of the existence of a Stone Age man. Since then much progress has been made in unearthing corroborative evidence.

Gen. Dawes and his party left tonight for Madrid.

RALEIGH FIRM GETS POSTAL JOB, REPORT

Alexandria Structure Will Be Three Stories High, of Brick and Stone.

BRIDGE WIDENING URGED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The contract for construction of the Alexandria postoffice is understood to have been awarded to the Beaman-Coleman Construction Co. of Raleigh, N. C., at a price of approximately $250,000. Bids had been previously submitted by a number of construction companies but had not been considered entirely satisfactory by the Treasury Department, which passed upon them. After a tentative award had been made it was considered that the needs of the Alexandria building had not been entirely expressed in the original specifications. The bids submitted were rejected and new estimates were requested which would include cornice work, parapet, and balustrade work which had not been called for in the original estimate.

The building as called for under the new contract will be of three stories, brick and stone construction. It will face on Washington street and extend on Prince street several feet beyond the present west limits of the existing postoffice building. It is understood that construction work will be started in September and the contract requires that it be completed within 500 days from the date of the contract.

Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, has interested himself in this contract and has asked that local labor be used as far as possible and that contractors use in the construction of the building stone quarried from the Acquia quarries near Fredericksburg. It is understood that the successful bidder has agreed to this. This sandstone is of a peculiar brownish tint and presents a most striking appearance. Several of the older Government buildings in Washington were constructed of this stone but the Acquia quarries had been abandoned for almost a century. About ten years ago a company was formed to work these quarries and when workmen began to explore the ancient workings old pickmarks, made by slave workmen more than a century ago, were found. Stone blocks were floated down the Rappahannock River and brought up the Potomac to Alexandria where they were fashioned into building blocks by crude methods.

In recent years the abandoned quarries at Acquia have been reopened. The stone has been brought to Alexandria and finished into blocks to suit modern building conditions. The Alexandria postoffice, if built of this stone, will be one more addition to its historic buildings.

While the new building is being constructed the Alexandria postoffice is occupying temporary quarters on King street and this leased building is also quarters for the U. S. District Court, the deputy collector of customs and the U. S. Commissioner.

A conference to consider the widening of the bridge over Four Mile Run on the Mount Vernon boulevard will be held this morning in the offices of the city manager, Wallace Lawrence. With Mr. Lawrence will meet City Engineer E. C. Dunn, Arlington County Engineer C. L. Kinnier and Edward Duncan, chairman of the board of supervisors of Arlington County. Arlington County is represented because the bridge marks the new city limits of Alexandria, crossing the run which is the dividing line between Arlington County and Alexandria City.

After the meeting those in attendance will inspect the site of the new work. It is proposed to make the bridge 42 feet wide, 28 feet for the roadway, 4 feet for the curb and gutters, and 2 feet for the sidewalk. The narrow bridge on the newly-widened road constitutes a distinct menace to traffic. Both county and city have agreed to widen the bridge, but this is the first conference between officials. It is thought that there is sufficient money left from the sum set aside to build the road to pay Alexandria's share, but the law does not state that this remainder must be used for this purpose.

Capt. Thad C. Knight, a veteran of the A. E. F., now a resident of Cleveland, Ohio, will speak to the Kiwanis Club today at its weekly luncheon at the George Mason Hotel. Robert G. Carter will preside, while the program is under direction of a special committee, of which Norman L. Williamson is chairman.

Milton Gregg, the young architect who is assisting in restoration of Williamsburg, has donated his services in refinishing Gadsby's Tavern. Mr. Gregg's offer was made at a meeting in the Tavern Monday night, when representatives of various organizations discussed methods of equipping the historic building with colonial fittings.

At the meeting were delegates from the American Legion Auxiliary, the Business and Professional Women's Club, Mount Vernon and Kate Waller Barrett Chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Colonial Dames.

MUSICIANS REJECT MOVIE STRIKE OFFER

stood that the owners had expressed a willingness to employ reduced orchestras at the Fox and Palace Theaters. They refused, however, to enter into any form of contract guaranteeing the continuance of such an agreement, and the musicians flatly refused to consider such an offer.

The result of yesterday's conference, in the words of Mr. Brylawski, could be "lost in the eye of an atomic needle." Both sides admitted that a "hopeless" deadlock was imminent, but each was equally confident that the other would see the light of reason.

Mr. Brylawski's decision to catch a late train for New York followed an informal conference of the Theater Owners Association last night in the offices of Hardie Meakin, manager of the Fox Theater. The owners had expressed confidence in their effort to avert the strike within a week, and the national musicians' adverse decision was more or less of a bombshell.

TWO MEN ACCUSED IN GIRL'S ABDUCTION

Anne Arundel Asked to Hold Prisoners for Authorities in Montgomery.

FIRE CARNIVAL IS HELD

Anne Arundel County authorities have been asked to hold two young men for whom warrants have been issued in Montgomery County in connection with the alleged abduction of Rheta Smith, 18-year-old Unity girl. The two men, Amos Lee Mayne and John Carroll Mayne, brothers, of Howard County, at present are in the county jail serving time in default of fines for traffic offenses.

The girl told Montgomery County police that she was forced to enter a machine at the point of a pistol by two men and taken to a farm near Daisy, Md., Howard County, where she was mistreated by one of the men, a man named Campbell. The two men held in the Annapolis jail were not named in the first warrants issued.

Despite the bad weather which prevented the aerial features of the program, the carnival which marked the opening of the newly Sandy Spring firehouse last night was a great success, fire officials declared last night.

The parade, which was to have started the festivities yesterday afternoon, was called off when a thunderstorm broke. Stunts by an airplane and a parachute jump, which were to have been the main thrillers for the afternoon, also were called off. A double-header baseball game was played, however, with the following results: First game, Brookeville, 7; Poolesville, 6; second game, Highland, 14; Brookeville, 11.

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the affair. About 600 chicken suppers were served by the Woman's Auxiliary. A short play, "The Third Angle," was presented by the Sandy Spring Dramatic Club. There were songs by Jack Ladson and recitations by Mrs. Mary Reading Nichols.

A contest entailing reconstruction of a hidden sentence in the program was won by William E. Thompson, with E. W. Burriss, second and T. A. Barnsley, third.

The new firehouse is not quite completed, there being a good deal of interior decorating to be finished, but it was the object of admiration to the community.

Six in Detroit's Mayoralty Race

Nominating Time Passes; Withdrawals Can Be Made Today.

Detroit, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Six qualified candidates remained in the race for Mayor of Detroit tonight as the time limit was passed for filing nominating petitions in the special election to fill the vacancy created by the recall five weeks ago of Mayor Charles Bowles.

While candidates may legally withdraw up to 4 p. m. tomorrow, the hopes of some of Bowles' critics to make the race a two-man contest with Bowles' administration the principal issue, were dashed by developments during the last two days.

Bowles himself has turned aside all suggestions that he retire from the race and repeatedly has denied rumors that he intends to do so. Two other candidates certain to remain in are George Engel, former chairman of the Civil Service Commission, and Frank Murphy, who resigned as a judge of recorder's court in order to make the race. Another candidate, John W. Smith, former mayor, whom Bowles defeated in November, 1929, was represented as willing to quit if opposition would be limited to one candidate by his doing so.

the Seventh, Representative Hampton M. Fuller won over Dr. Dan R. Sturkie by a wide margin.

The South Carolina General Assembly last year passed an act providing for issuance of $85,000,000 in bonds for highway construction. The bond issue was opposed by a group, which contended a State referendum should have been held on the question before the bonds were issued. The antibond group contended the issue was unconstitutional, but it was upheld in the courts. Johnston was leader of the group.

Hampton County conducted a referendum to determine the attitude of the electorate toward repeal of the prohibition laws. No figures were available this afternoon, but election officials said the vote was overwhelmingly "wet."

Lord Beaverbrook, Ill, Is Reported Recovered

Dover, England, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Lord Beaverbrook, the Canadian-born newspaper publisher and sponsor of the empire free trade crusade, who was reported as being ill when his yacht pulled in here early today, has recovered from his indisposition.

The Beaverbrook yacht left at 5 o'clock this evening after reporting "all's well."

Lake Steamers May Stage Race

Rival Lines Consider the Event; Last of Its Kind Was Held in 1901.

Cleveland, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Possibility of a race between two of the largest passenger steamers on the Great Lakes was being considered today by officials of the Cleveland & Buffalo Trading Co., and the eDtroit & Cleveland Navigation Co.

"We're ready to go any time and are waiting to hear from the D. & C. now," P. J. Swarts, general manager of the C. & B. said. E. H. McCracken, passenger traffic manager for the D. & C. said he was "thinking it over."

The big Seeanbee, a powerful 500-foot ship, is the Cleveland Buffalo Line's proposed entry. The Detroit & Cleveland Co.'s favorites are the Greater Buffalo and the Greater Detroit, sister ships.

A similar race was held on the Great Lakes in 1901 with the City of Erie, of the Cleveland & Buffalo Line winning from the Tashmoo, of the White Star Line.

$128,630 Suit Facing Doherty and Former Aid

Cincinnati, Ohio, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Graham P. Hunt, receiver for the Roberts & Hall Brokerage Co., filed suit today for judgment of $128,630.75 from Henry L. Doherty and Amor W. MASTER OF FAIRFAX CLEARED IN CRASH

Steamboat Inspection Board at Norfolk Finds That He Did His Duty.

BOSTON CHARGE DENIED

(Associated Press.)

Capt. Archie H. Brooks, master of the steamer Fairfax, which rammed and sank the oil tanker Pinthis in Massachusetts Bay last June, was cleared yesterday of responsibility for the disaster, which cost 45 lives.

Capt. Brooks was exonerated of blame in a report prepared by the steamboat inspection board at Norfolk, Va., which investigated charges filed against him after the collision. The report, made public by Dickerson N. Hoover, head of the Commerce Department's Steamboat Inspection Service, said a thorough examination of 24 witnesses had failed to establish evidence substantiating accusations and that the case was closed.

The Pinthis sank immediately after the crash and all on board lost their lives. The Fairfax caught fire and a number of its crew were burned fatally before flames were extinguished. Several jumped into the ocean and were drowned.

Charges filed against Capt. Brooks by steamboat inspectors at Boston included failure to make the proper maneuvers, making excessive speed during the fog at the time of the collision, and failure to make an efficient search for possible survivors floating in the water.

The action of the captain when the Pinthis was sighted was defended in the report which asserted it was evident that if he had "executed any other maneuver than what he did both vessels would have been sunk and possibly all lives lost.

It added that at the time of the crash the Fairfax was moving only 3 miles an hour, while the Pinthis was traveling at maximum speed and that no one on the Fairfax heard any signal from the other ship until she was seen looming up in the fog.

After the fire on the Fairfax had been extinguished, the report said, a lifeboat equipped with a spotlight cruised about the vicinity for three or four hours, but was unable to locate any survivors.

English Woman Begins Channel Swim Attempt

Cape Gris-Nez, France, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Miss Elsie West, English swimmer, tonight began an attempt to swim the English Channel.

She entered the water at 10:39 p. m. (4:39 Eastern standard time) with the sea calm and the water warm.

REUNION OFF, SAYS G. A. R. COMMANDER

1898. The city does not expect to be their host again as Adj. Gen. Wilfred A. Wetherbee reported today that the membership had declined to 21,080 on last January 1, a decrease of 100,000 in ten years. The number of posts is 2,238, a loss of 311 during 1929. Forty-two hundred members died during 1929.

Commander in Chief Foster told the encampment that there would be "no" reunion of the Blue and the Gray this side of the Great Divide. He said the Confederates refused to parade without the Stars and Bars, and that the G. A. R. would refuse to parade under those circumstances.

Pension legislation occupied most of the reports of Foster and John Reese, chairman of the legislative committee. Foster cited recent legislation increasing pensions of veterans up to $100 a month but asked help in securing increased pensions for their widows, who now receive $30 a month up to the age of 70 years and then $40 until they are 85.

Reese said "We asked Congress for bread for these widows but were given a crumb from a rich man's table, as it were."

Wilfred A. Wetherbee, adjutant general, recommended that the charter of the department of New Mexico be annulled and that its only remaining post be assigned to the department of Colorado and Wyoming, as he had not received its credentials report and did not wish the members to lose their standing in the G. A. R.

L. R. Arensburg, treasurer of the board of trustees, reported the permanent fund of the G. A. R. consisted of $32,300 in securities and $7,622.65 in cash.

Events of the War 13 Years Ago Today

AUGUST 28, 1917.

President Wilson, through Secretary Lansing, rejected the Pope's peace proposals on grounds that the United States must continue to fight until assured that the next peace treaty would be more than a "scrap of paper."

The entire Bainsizza plateau was reported controlled by the Italian army.

Senate leaders added $288,000,000 to the tax on war profits.

Germany agreed to give "freedom of the seas" to Argentine boats carrying food.

Green to Assist In Labor Service

Episcopal Church Singers to Be Heard Sunday at Cathedral Grounds.

Massed choirs from several Episcopal churches in the city will participate in the musical portion of the National Labor Sunday service to be held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Peace Cross on the grounds of Washington Cathedral. President William Green of the American Federation of Labor will be the speaker.

Services will include prayers and scriptural readings having labor significance. The Rev. Dr. G. Freeland Peter, canon and chancellor of Washington Cathedral, will direct the services, assisted by the cathedral's staff of clergy.

Edgar Priest, organist and choirmaster for the cathedral, has arranged the musical program. The entire service is to be broadcast through Station WMAL and the coast-to-coast network of the Columbia Broadcasting Co. Invitations have been forwarded to 75 labor unions in the District.

FORMER TEAMSTER LEAVES $100,000,000

Will of Thomas B. Slick, Oil Operator, Divides Sum Between Five.

CHILDREN GIVEN BULK

Clarion, Pa., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The will of a former teamster was revealed today as leaving a fortune of between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 to five members of his family.

The will was that of Thomas B. Slick, whose independent operations in Illinois and the southwest led to his being known as the wealthiest independent oil operator in the world.

Those the paper named were his widow and three children and his mother. Slick died in a Baltimore Hospital August 16.

No mention of the size of the estate was made in the document filed for probate here today. Estimates, however, were made by attorneys and relatives of the dead man.

To his mother, Mrs. Mary Slick, of Clarion, the oil man left an annuity of $5,000. To the widow, Mrs. Bernice Slick, he left a third of the remainder of the estate and their home in Oklahoma City.

The three children are Thomas B. jr., Betty, and Earl. Under the will, the daughter will receive $5,000 a year from her eighteenth to her thirtieth birthdays, while the sons will receive $10,000 yearly between the ages of 21 and 30. At the age of 30, each child will receive a third of the share of the estate due, another third at the age of 45, and the final portion at the age of 55.

Trustees of the estate, the widow, Charles F. Urschell, and Arthur A. Seeligson, all of Oklahoma City, were empowered either to sell or continue Slick's business operations as they see fit.

diplomatists and other foreign officials who were in Peking during the siege.

Descendant of Gen. Putnam.

His grandmother, Sarah Hollis Putnam, was a granddaughter of Gen. Israel Putnam, of American Revolutionary fame. His father, Charles Lenox Simpson, was British and served as senior commissioner of the Chinese customs.

Mr. Simpson married Mary Louis Parrot, of San Francisco, in 1917.

He has served various Chinese governments as adviser and has written extensively for British newspapers and magazines.

Firing by Chinese Communists on foreign ships 40 miles above Kiukiang was reported to the State Department yesterday by American Consul General Frank B. Lockhart, at Hankow.

Location of Communists.

The Communists are quartered on the hillside above Kiukiang and are firing on foreign vessels with field pieces, the consul reporter adding that one shell, which missed its target, was fired at close range at a British ship on which he was traveling at 2 a. m., August 24.

He said that Japanese and other vessels had been fired upon at the same point.

As a precautionary measure some foreign women and children have been evacuated to ships in Changsha harbor, although the city was quiet up to the night of August 25, the message stated.

Lindberghs in Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here shortly after 6 o'clock tonight for a stopover on their air trip to the air races at Chicago. They took off from Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., this afternoon. They will proceed to Chicago tomorrow.

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

IT will be welcome news to the picture lovers of Washington that the Rialto Theater is to reopen permanently for the season of 1930-31, a week from Saturday, September 6.

Contrary to expectation, the inaugural attraction will not be the Universal superproduction of "All Quiet on the Western Front," the picturization of the Remarque novel of the war from a German soldier's viewpoint which has won such ride acclaim throughout the world, but a slightly less pretentious camera rendition of the prize-winning stage play by Thomas Mitchell and Floyd Dell, "Little Accident." A cursory survey of the cast of this diverting and slightly risque comedy leads to the belief that no great regret ought to be occasioned by this unexpected substitution. Douglas Fairbanks, jr., Anita Page, "Slim" Summerville—who appears in "All Quiet," too—ZaSu Pitts, Joan Marsh, Roscoe Carns, Sally Blane and Albert Gran all are among those present and each may always be relied upon to give a thoroughly good account of himself.

But lest you be held too long in suspense, it may be said without further delay that according to present plans, "All Quiet on the Western Front" will be the second feature of the Rialto's new season, following hard on the heels of "Little Accident."

The house, by the way, will again be under the managing directorship of Jimmie Carrier, occupant of the post immediately preceding the incumbency of Andy Sharick, in charge at the time of the last closing of the Ninth street property. Mr. Sharick will remain Universal's managing director in Cleveland, Ohio, his "home town."

Advance word from Mr. Carrier, relayed from Atlanta, Ga., is to the effect that a roster of pictures sufficiently complete to insure the uninterrupted operation of the Rialto throughout the season already is penciled in on the booking sheets.

With no definite word of the outcome of the latest confab between the Motion Picture Theater Owners and Musicians' Union, Local No. 161, which is still in progress as this is written Wednesday afternoon, I still make so bold as to say that—if, unless, notwithstanding, nevertheless, perhaps, may be—next week's offerings in the downtown, first run emporia of the gelatines will be as follows: Fox, John McCormack in "Song o' My Heart"; RKO-Keith's, Claudette Colbert and Fredric March in "Manslaughter;" Metropolitan, Johnson and Olsen in "Oh, Sailor, Behave"; Palace, Greta Garbo, in "Romance"; Earle, Billie Dove and Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in "One Night at Susie's"; Columbia, Buster Keaton and Cliff Edwards in "Dough Boys"—unless Lon Chaney is held over a second week in "The Unholy Three."

Charlie Kurtzman, divisional manager for Fox, who spent a considerable period in Washington at the time of Hardie Meakin's induction into the intricacies of the managing directorship of the local cathedral, returned to the Capital last night for a few days' visit. When inquiry was made whether Mr. Kurtzman returned on the musicians' controversy, or merely on general principles, the reply was, general principles—but there is nothing to stop you from using your own judgment.

Speaking of the impasse between the theater owners and musicians, as who is not, there is—or so I am given to believe—more than an arbitrary appraisal of a theater's needs in the matter of musicians involved in the origin, if not the application, of the minimum number clause of the contracts now about to expire, which constitutes the major factor of contention between the two interests presumably still at loggerheads.

It is my understanding that the U. S. Bureau of Standards, after exhaustive experiments having to do with the volume and speed of sound, cubical contents of theaters and other pertinent matters too far back in the book for your present reporter, determined that best results, from the audience standpoint, were obtained when one playing instrument was employed for each 100 seats of the theater's capacity.

Whether this is the fact or not, by the easy processes of simple arithmetic it works out exactly in the cases of the local salons of the celluloids now in dispute.

And another thing, a great many who have followed with some degree of thoughtful attention the national advertising campaign that has been waged for several months by the American Federation of Musicians, Joseph N. Weber, president, on behalf of its members, as opposed to mechanical music, would be interested to know who it is Mr. Weber thinks makes this "robot music" that so much has been said about.

The implication of the ads is that "robot music" is created by the mechanical devices that reproduce it, when, as a matter of fact, it is created by members of Mr. Weber's own organization who receive an extraordinarily high wage for their recording work for the very reason that it is to be widely distributed and subjected to indeterminate repetition.

Every ad that assails "robot music," per se assails the artists who originally played it, and these artists, in a majority of cases where instrumental music for uses of the cinema is concerned, are union members.

Or am I wrong?

And have you noticed, as the end of the present contract period draws near, that the local orchestras are receiving the most enthusiastic applause they have ever enjoyed? My own observation during the past week has been to that effect. Maybe it is a straw, showing which way the wind, if any, is blowing!

Well, Philadelphia didn't beat Washington yesterday, anyhow!

clearly evident that the credit structure of the country is in an easy and exceptionally strong position."

In his letter accepting the resignation, President Hoover said:

"I have your letter of August 26, tendering your resignation as governor and member of the Federal Reserve Board. The reasons for this action on your part which you have explained to me in person and which you mention in your letter are sufficiently compelling to forbid my insisting that you remain, much as I am tempted to do so.

"You have the right to feel that you have rendered real public service. You brought to the position of governor sound banking judgment based on many years of experience and a comprehensive knowledge of financial, industrial and agriculture conditions throughout the country and of our national banking system. In very difficult times you have performed the important duties of your office with excellent judgment, tact and courage, and I shall find it difficult to replace you. I wish to express not only my own appreciation of your devoted public service, but my conviction that your resignation will be received with regret by the country as a whole."

Mellon Gives Parise.

Secretary Mellon said in his letter that Governor Young had conducted the duties of his office with a "high degree of skill, sometimes under extremely difficult circumstances, and your three years of service have been of very distinct benefit to the Federal Reserve System."

As governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, Mr. Young will succeed the late William P. G. Harding, who died April 7. In this there is a coincidence, for Mr. Harding went to the Boston institute after serving as governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Plumbing Firm Pair Held in Union Deaths

Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Formal charges were made today in warrants for the arrest of Charles Arthur Stein and Charles Courchene for slaying a week ago of Charles Mulcahy and Bernard Ruberry, Plumbers' Union officials. Stein is the son of the president of a plumbing contracting company and Courchene is plumbing superintendent of the firm.

Mulchany and Ruberry were killed when they went to the site of the new Lane Technical High School where the Stein Co. was in charge of plumbing work.

Employe of Bank Foils Bandits With Tear Gas

Kansas City, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A tear gas gun fired by an employe frustrated a holdup of the Plaza Bank of Commerce by two bandits today.

The men, who had covered Cashier John O'Keefe with a revolver and demanded that he hand over the money in the bank, fled without loot when the gas was released. They escaped. Customers and employes were driven from the building by the fumes. The bank is located on Country Club Plaza. Two men yesterday robbed the Main Street Bank of $10,500.

INQUIRY IS LAUNCHED INTO WARDMAN FIRM

Mortgage & Discount Co. Books Scanned by Aid of Stockholders.

HAS SENATORS' CONSENT

An investigation into the records of the Wardman Mortgage & Discount Co. was begun yesterday by Oscar H. Brinkman, attorney for a group of the stockholders of that concern.

Attorney Brinkman is the official investigator of the Blaine subcommittee of the Senate District committee, which is inquiring into the local real estate situation. In his inquiry into the affairs of the Wardman Mortgage & Discount Co. Mr. Brinkman is acting with the consent of the Blaine subcommittee.

He spent a good part of yesterday afternoon poring over the books of the Wardman concern, and he plans to continue his study of them today. Permission to do this was granted him by Daniel Thew Wright, attorney for the Wardman firm, after some delay.

The Wardman Mortgage & Discount Co. was organized in 1924, and is headed by Harry Wardman. A large part of its 70,000 shares of stock was purchased by Washingtonians, who paid $125 a unit—that is $125 for a share of preferred with a share of common thrown in. Today the stock is quoted at a figure much below this and dividends have ceased.

The company was organized with the purpose of financing other activities of the Wardman organization and was advertised as a "cooperative proposition."

Coast Line's July Net Income Is $12,804

Richmond, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Net operating income of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co. for July was $12,804, compared with $16,734 for July, 1929, the monthly statement of revenus and expenses issued today disclosed. The net operating income for July, 1928, was $168,525. Total operating revenues for the month of July amounted to $4,031,806, as against $4,385,211 in the same month last year. Operating expenses this July were reduced to $3,806,402 from $4,215,797 in July, 1929.

The July figures brought the combined net operating income for the first seven months of 1930 to $5,774,015, compared with $10,433,397 for the corresponding period last year and $6,605,639 for the same seven months of 1928.

226 U. S. War Mothers Suffer in Paris Heat

Paris, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—A group of 226 American Gold Star Mothers, mostly from the Middle Western States, reached Paris this evening.

All of them suffered from the effects of the excessive heat which has struck France, but none of them was seriously indisposed. The party landed from the George Washington a few hours late owing to fog over the channel.

NEW YORK'S JUDICIAL SCANDALS.

It seems necessary only to prick the skin of the Tammany tiger to draw forth new evidence of political corruption. While the groundwork is being laid for a thorough investigation into charges that former Magistrate Ewald paid more than $10,000 for his judicial position, the attorney general has found it necessary to investigate five other charges of office selling. Every day the scandal assumes larger proportions. The public has been aroused, and apparently the official searchlight will be turned on the whole sordid business.

The New York constitution gives the appellate division of the courts authority to remove magistrates for cause. Justice Seabury has been appointed to preside over the investigation, and the magistrates of both Manhattan and the Bronx will be subjected to scrutiny. The State Bar Association is cooperating with the attorney general in gathering evidence and information. The public, too, has been asked to give assistance, and is responding with enthusiasm. With all this investigative machinery in motion there is no telling where the probe will lead to, but it is certain that the Tammany office brokers are in for a scathing.

The second case that has been unearthed is a confession of a former city marshal that he paid $2,000 to a Tammany leader for his office. One of the new cases that has come to the attention of the attorney general involves charges that a judge in a higher court paid $200,000 for the nomination which resulted in his election. It is also charged that he was "a gunman's choice," and that the underworld furnished half of the price of the nomination. Apparently the individual's incompetence and his connection with the underworld made the price unusually high.

The public will do well to remember that these charges have not yet been proved. But the investigation has gone far enough to shake public confidence in the lower courts of New York. One case of corruption might be condoned by public opinion, but where evidence of a venal judiciary begins to crop out in half a dozen different places, it is time for a thorough housecleaning.

MAYOR ROLPH FOR GOVERNOR.

James Rolph, jr., Mayor of San Francisco, seems to have captured the Republican nomination for Governor of California by a handsome margin over Gov. Young. The rural districts are depended upon by Gov. Young to reduce this margin or even to overturn it, but Mayor Rolph's lead apparently is too big to be upset.

With the Republicans holding a commanding position in California it is now almost a certainty that Mayor Rolph will be transferred to Sacramento as governor. He has been repeatedly elected Mayor of San Francisco, and in that post has gained more than coast-wide renown. During the campaign that has just ended he was opposed by all the newspapers of San Francisco, but he more than made up for this handicap, if it was such, by his liberal stand on the prohibition question. Gov. Young was supported by the Antisaloon League.

The result of the primary indicates that California Republicans, even in southern California, are in favor of some modification of the present laws pertaining to liquor. But no definite proposal for modification seems to have been agreed upon. California, like all other parts of the country, is groping for a solution of the liquor problem.

WOULD ABOLISH COOKING.

Dr. Paul Rouchakoff, investigator for the Pasteur Institute in Paris, has a new recipe for longevity. He believes that man ought to live about three times as long as he now does, and sees no reason why he should not, if his diet is right. There is nothing new in the method he prescribes, but the learned scientist is reported to have created somewhat of a sensation in Europe by the evidence he brings forth in support of his claims.

Dr. Rouchakoff would abolish cooking. "Man ought to have an average life span of 140 to 160 years," he says, "if only he could be persuaded to cease making his food toxic by cooking it." Dietitians often complain that healthful properties in food are destroyed in the cooking process, and physicians are constantly urging their patients to eat more raw foods. But Dr. Rouchakoff insists that cooking "actually shortens man's span of life by poisoning him."

Careful research led the Parisian doctor to the discovery that the number of white corpuscles in the blood stream immediately increase when cooked foods are taken into the stomach. He found no such reaction to the consumption of raw foods. Since the function of white corpuscles in the blood is to eliminate poisons, he concludes that cooked foods cause the development of certain toxins and thereby weaken the body's resistance.

Apparently Dr. Rouchakoff is so convinced that his theory is right that he would abolish the art of cooking. All the devices for making food palatable and attractive would be cast aside, and man would be asked to return to a state of nature and eat things as he found them. The very thought of it makes a shudder pass over every possessor of a cultivated palate.

That is precisely what is wrong with the learned doctor's findings. He runs to an extreme. Abolish cooking? Never! Perhaps in time man can be persuaded to eat more fruit and vegetable foods raw, but no mere promise of trebling his span of life will ever induce him to give up his roast, his apple pie, and his corned beef and cabbage.

"A NATION OF SLAVES."

The agent of a leading American corporation has recently returned from a visit to Russia and rendered his report. His instructions were to get the facts. Representatives of the Soviet, hoping to do business with his company, gave him access to factories and workshops.

This observer has reported that the Soviet government is feverishly preparing and exporting all exportable products that can be turned into money. Moscow and Leningrad have an atmosphere of activity and false prosperity in consequence of this program, while the people generally are suffering semi-starvation.

The rulers of Russia have originated on a gigantic scale a scheme for making the people work for nothing. All the money obtained abroad for Russian products flows into the hands of the ruling clique. Some of it is used to keep the export process in operation, and some of it for Communist propaganda in foreign countries. The American observer satisfied himself that a handful of the Communist leaders were amassing stupendous fortunes through the enslavement of the workers. The American gave a factory foreman a pair of shoes, which the man was unable to obtain otherwise. Workers are compelled to stay at their jobs, for which they receive no pay, and their food rations are insufficient. Destitution and starvation prevail in small towns and country districts. Deportations of well-to-do peasants are on a large scale. All their property is swept into the maw of the Soviet, and apparently none of the benefits of the confiscation program are returned to any class of the people.

Foreign concerns trading with the Soviet are contributing to the success of the nation-wide "squeeze" conceived by the red leaders. To the extent that Russian products are worked up and sold abroad, the Russian people are correspondingly robbed by their Communist masters. "A nation of slaves" is the conclusion of this American business agent.

CHINESE BUYING VICTORIES.

China never carries on a war with military strategy alone. When troops are fresh and the war lords confident they sometimes go into battle in true western fashion, but in the end a campaign always reverts to bribery, propaganda and intrigue. Money is more influential than the bayonet, because after the money is spent one can always have recourse to arms; and few are so incorruptible that they will not sell a victory if the price is high enough.

The fact that President Chiang Kai-shek is offering large rewards for the troops that capture various cities in strategic locations suggests that the morale of his soldiers is weakening. In spite of his recent victories, the northern rebel forces are still formidable, and autumn is approaching. By stimulating his own troops and spreading disaffection among those of the enemy, Chiang hopes to bring the rebels to terms before winter closes in. He is offering amnesty to all the rebel soldiers who want to come back into his own army, reserving punishment for only Feng Yu-hsiang and Yen Hsi-shan, the rebel generals, in the event that they should be captured. Perhaps these rebel generals will, in the end, be "bought off" in the usual Chinese fashion.

The chief objection to this manner of settlement is that it is no settlement at all. It becomes a mere suspension of hostilities for the purpose of recouping military strength. Those who had hoped for a definite climax to the chaotic political situation in China are now disillusioned. The gentle art of buying victory has been revived, and will no doubt be used as effectively by the rebels as by the Nationalists.

AIR MAIL BIDS.

The squabble over the award of two transcontinental air mail contracts promises to lead to action by the courts. These new routes are to be opened up by the Postoffice Department under the provisions of the Watres bill which was enacted for the specific purpose of assisting operators in the establishment of passenger carrying lines. The department, however, inserted a clause to the effect that bids would be eligible only from operators who had had at least six months' actual experience in night flying over a route at least 250 miles long. Certain independent operators contend that this clause constitutes an unfair and discriminatory restriction.

The bids were opened early in the week. The low bidder for the Los Angeles to New York contract was the United Aviation Corporation, a newly organized outfit welded from three independent companies, none of which has had the required night flying experience. The next low bidder was Western Air Express—Transcontinental Air Transport. Only one bid for the Los Angeles-Atlanta contract was received.

United Aviation is unable to meet the requirements specified by the Postoffice Department for award of the contract, hence it seems inevitable that its bid will be thrown out in favor of the Western Air Express—Transcontinental Air Transport bid. The independent operators are on record, however, to the effect that if a bid is thrown out on these grounds, they will take the matter to court to obtain a ruling as to the department's right to make such a requirement, in view of the fact that the Watres bill specifies merely that operators, to qualify for contracts, shall have had six months' actual flying experience, day or night, over routes at least 250 miles in length. It may be that the dispute can be settled only by action of Congress. The mails must be carried forward day and night. The Postoffice Department can hardly afford to grant long-term carrying contracts to operators who may or may not be able to carry them out properly so far as night flying is concerned.

A CASUAL OCEAN FLIGHT.

The flight of Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau and his companions from Germany to the United States was in pleasing contrast to the transatlantic flights of recent memory. In a second-hand ship and without ostentation, these four Germans started out from the Isle of Sylt, in the North Sea, on August 18, flew 4,000 miles along the "northern route" in 47 hours' flying time, and put their ship down near the Statute of Liberty Tuesday afternoon. It was a fine achievement.

Capt. von Gronau used the Dornier-Wall flying boat which Roald Amundsen used in the Arctic five years ago, and in which Capt. Frank Courtney, an Englishman, floated around for four days in the vicinity of the Azores, where he had been forced down by engine trouble. Capt. von Gronau's achievement with this relic, which is the oldest Dornier-Wall in active service, focuses attention upon the forthcoming transatlantic flight of the newest and finest product of the Dornier works. Next month the gigantic DO-X will be brought, in four easy stages, to America. This is the ship which Dr. Dornier designed specifically to compete with the Zeppelin in commercial operation.

The flight of the Dornier-Wall was beset with difficulties. Capt. von Gronau and his companions fought fog, cold and storm almost all the way across the Atlantic, and the fact that they brought their ship through safely to its destination testifies to their skill and endurance. A greater test of airmanship will come, however, when the six-motored DO-X, with perhaps 50 passengers, will dare the storms of the Atlantic.

LA SALLE'S SHIP

From the New York Times.

A mystery deep as that which has enveloped the fate of certain Arctic explorers has surrounded the ship which was the first to venture with sails upon the waters of the Great Lakes above Niagara Falls. It was named the Griffon, built on the shores of Lake Erie almost if not quite within sound of the falls, which were as the dragon of the expedition of Jason in search of the Golden Fleece. Sieur De La Salle brought the iron, cordage and anchors from the chandleries of Paris for this vessel, in which he hoped to bring back peltry from the further shores of what is now Lake Michigan. It was launched with a prayer by Friar Hennepin, the singing of the Te Deum by the sailors and the yelping of the astonished Indians on an August day in 1679. It passed through the Straits of Ste. Claire, the "Symplegades" of this pioneer voyage; on past Point St. Ignace, where La Salle, in his "scarlet cloak trimmed with gold lace," paused and is seen kneeling before a primitive altar making a vow to St. Anthony, and thence pushed on to Green Bay, an arm of Lake Michigan, where it was loaded with its precious cargo of furs and hides. It then started on its way back to satisfy La Salle's creditors, while he and some of his men set forth down the Mississippi Valley on "the way toward Mexico."

The vessel never reached port. Tonty, La Salle's intrepid companion, searched all the east coast in vain for sight of it. Nor have "researchers" found so much as a feather of its pinions. One author has imagined the golden-brown skins scattered over the waters of the lake as the bits of the body of the son of the King of Colchis strewn by Medea to detain the pursuers of the Argonauts. Today comes the report that the government of Ontario has given permission to Canadians to salvage a wreck in the Straits of Mississagi, between Cochrane Island and Mantoulin Island, a little way this side of Point Ignace and the Straits of Mackinac, where, in the traditions of the Indians, it was seen driven by a gale. If the timbers are found to be those of the Griffon, they will be as the bones of a saint among ships, for it carried not only a cargo but an altar, and it bore, too, the prophecy of wings, for while the griffon carved in its prow had the body of a lion, the precursor of the fleets of lake craft that carry cargoes of iron ore, lumber and wheat, 600 feet long, it had also the pinions of a bird.

The storms of nature and human jealousies thwarted La Salle's immediate ambition, but his little 60-ton galleon became the vancourier of a fleet on the lake waters of more than half the ships registered in the United States, and the course it traced has become the path of a commerce whose tonnage is one-third or more of the total. So, one hopes that this "old wreck" lying in the Strait of Mississagi, on the way to the Mississippi, may prove to be that of the first vessel with wings to plow with its keel the greatest body of fresh water in the world, and whose spectral mast still beckons even the great ships of the ocean to follow it into the valley beyond.

AN OLD TREE TALKS.

I stopped beside a dying tree
Grown old and weary with the years,
And thought I heard it speak to me
As if it were in tears.

I thought it said: "'Tis nice of you
With me to pass the time of day.
That's something now few people do
Since I am old and gray.

"The younger hearts all pass me by.
I've lost the charms which once I had,
An unattractive tree am I
And often very sad.

"But though I am a withered tree
And ugly now to view,
You've found the time to speak to me
And that is nice of you."

How oft we hear old people say,
As did that fading tree,
"It's very nice of you to stay
And speak a word with me!"

The Proof of Good Manners Is Kindness to the Beggar, Not the King.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

GEORGE BERNARD SHAW again is a target for the critics because he told the truth about his drunken father, long since deceased.

The belief that no evil should be spoken of the dead is as old as the history of ethics, but it isn't a sensible belief and ethics had nothing to do with its origin.

The general assumption is that the belief has something to do with chivalry—that it is wrong to speak evil of the dead in the same sense that it is wrong to strike the weak or bully the helpless.

But the origin of the precept was not so idealistic. Our fathers were careful to flatter the departed because dead people were spirits who might return to "ha'nt" their critics. It wasn't chivalry that prompted the ancients, but a nice regard for their own skins. They were reluctant to start anything with ghosts.

To say that we should speak no evil of the dead is not an admonition to avoid falsehood. It implies, on the contrary, that the dead deserve the evil things we might say if we felt free to tell the truth. And thus the precept really means, "Don't tell the truth about the dead."

As a detail of ethics it is on a par with the oft-repeated injunction to refrain from selfish prayers.

The dominant motive in every life is self-interest. Even the sacrifices we make for loved ones are selfish efforts to preserve our chief treasures. And to say we should not pray for things we desire, but only for things in which we have no selfish interest, is equivalent to saying we should not pray sincerely.

Sincerity and truth are much more important than hypocritical chivalry.

Speaking evil of the dead may be an evidence of ill breeding, as all unnecessary criticism is, but only because it bores and depresses the hearer.

The dead are beyond the reach of cruel tongues. To tell the truth about them is no violation of the rules of chivalry unless it hurts those who are yet alive.

It is high time to revise the ancient precept to read: "Speak no evil of the living."

Our good manners, prompted by a desire to feather our nests or save our skins, too often fill a glass for those who don't need it and disregard those who do.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ON TALKING BACK TO A TRAFFIC COP.

At last the easily intimidated motorist is getting a break. A New York court has upheld the driver's right to talk back to a traffic policeman. The motorist, given a summons after an argument with the policeman, carried the case to court and was upheld in his contention that every dispute between an automobile owner and a cop should be a one-way debate.

• • • •

In this case he had even called the traffic policeman a liar, something the average autoist would not even attempt from an airplane. Grave results are anticipated throughout the country as soon as motorists as a whole grasp the glad tidings that every citizen is entitled to life, liberty and a debate with the traffic police.

• • • •

The following dialogues may take place any moment:

Traffic Cop (to motorist who didn't see the red light)—Hey, you!

Motorist—Don't you hey me. My name is Scrummitt, Dudley R. Scrummitt.

Traffic Cop—Is that so?

Motorist—You can depend on it.

Traffic Cop—What's the matter? Color blind?

Motorist—No, sir. Why? Are you looking for somebody who is color blind?

Traffic Cop—One of them fresh guys, eh?

Motorist—Who's one of them fresh guys?

Traffic Cop—You're one of them fresh guys.

Motorist—You're mistaken, officer, and very hasty in your character reading.

Traffic Cop—Pull over to th' curb!

Motorist—Some other time, officer, if you don't mind.

Traffic Cop—Say, listen, who do you think you are?

Motorist—Scrummitt's the name: D. R. Scrummitt, white, 32, blue eyes, light hair, native born, broker. And what's this all about? State your business.

Traffic Cop—You ran by a stop signal.

Motorist—I didn't see any stop signal, officer.

Traffic Cop—Oh, yes you did.

Motorist—You're a liar.

Traffic Cop—Say that again, mister.

Motorist—Certainly. You're a liar, an extraordinary liar, if I am not mistaken.

Traffic Cop—A liar, eh?

Motorist—Yes, and I could easily dislike you on a lot of other grounds, among which is halitosis.

Traffic Cop—Just for that I'll give you a summons.

Motorist—Let's see if you can do it. I'm betting 2 to 1 you can't spell.

• • • •

No. 2.

Motorcycle Cop (to motorist overtaken for speeding)—Pull over to the curb, big boy!

Motorist—Are you speaking to me?

Motorcycle Cop—What makes you think maybe I'm not?

Motorist—Well, for one thing, I'm not a big boy; I'm only 5 feet 6 in my stockinged feet.

Motorcycle Cop—Where's your fire helmet?

Motorist—I loaned it to a friend.

Motorcycle Cop—You should always carry it with you the way you drive.

Motorist—I'd like you better in a different hat, too.

Motorcycle Cop—I suppose you know you were doing 50 an hour?

Motorist—You're crazy.

Motorcycle Cop—I'm crazy, am I?

Motorist—Sure you are. Am I the first to tell you?

Motorcycle Cop—You're the first today.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

No Excuse for Letting Street Trees Die for Lack of Water—Turn on the Watering Trucks!

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The contention of Fire Chief Watson that it is impracticable to use firemen and firehose to water the trees in the streets so as to save them, has some force, nevertheless I have often seen what looked like fire hose attached to hydrants to flush sewers and for other purposes. The force of the water from hydrants can be moderated; I have seen a small flow from them.

This matter it seems to me could be well handled by the street cleaning force. The watering trucks used at night could be put to effective watering of the trees at the roots. But all in all it appears to be a matter for that department of the city government which has the care of the trees. It seems to be on vacation during this drought. Again I say, wake them up!

It is the city's fault if its trees are perishing for lack of water. Without its trees the city's beauty would be diminished two thirds. A beautiful tree is, of course, priceless, but if money value must be considered every tree here should be worth at least $100 and there being 100,000 trees on the streets of the city, they are worth $10,000,000 to the city. Shall they be permitted to perish for lack of water?

There is water, water everwhere in Washington, with millions of gallons running by the city in the Potomac and a great plant to distribute the water in the Capital, but there is not a drop for the thirsty trees, even from hydrants three feet away, and because some one in the city government is asleep on the job. J. L.

Movements of Birds Foretell Early Cold Weather.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: During the summer starlings, purple martins, robins and purple grackles are usually seen in pairs and not in flocks. Upon the arrival of chilly autumn days these species are seen in large flocks migrating to the South. Autumn does not arrive until September 21, officially, but the birds tell us that we are going to have early cold weather.

The purple martins are already leaving their summer homes and can be seen flying Southward in large flocks each evening. The starlings are beginning to congregate, and soon they will swoop down upon the city to seek warm roosting places. The purple grackles are also gathering. Instead of flying toward the South they head directly for Chesapeake Bay, where they gather bits of food from the surf each morning. A few crows follow in the wake of the grackles for the same purpose.

The robins have not appeared in flocks as yet, but when they do we can feel certain that cool weather is not far distant. Upon the departure of the summer birds, the winter residents come down from the North to settle here for several months. These include the fox sparrow, snow bird or junco, chickadee, tufted tit-mouse, ruby-crowned and golden-crowned kinglets, shirke and cardinal. Some of these birds, stay here winter and summer, but the majority are found here only during the winter. Through the study of bird migration one can gain much weather lore. A. W. K.

Put Idle Men to Work Watering Shade Trees, Says Mr. Lee.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: J. L. suggests in a letter to The Post that fire hose be used to water the trees in the District. Chief Watson gave the reply that the force of the water coming out of a fire hose is so great that it would uproot the trees, and he also said that the hose would block traffic at many intersections. The firemen are kept busy answering alarms and should not be called upon to water treees.

Every morning a large number of men visit the United States Employment Bureau seeking work. Why not employ these men in saving the beautiful trees in the District Take two men to a block, each supplied with a bucket of water which he can refill at a nearby hydrant, and let them water the trees. Through this process the water will be applied gradually, and none of it will be wasted. It will take many buckets of water to moisten the ground to a depth of three inches around the trees, but this method would preserve the shade trees for all the citizens and it would give those out of work a means of earning a small amount of money. The District government surely can finance this work. R. L. LEE.

"American" Hopes Sir Thomas Lipton Will Win the Cup, Just This Time.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Next month Sir Thoms Lipton, whom I consider the gamest of sports, will make his fifth attempt to win the America's Cup with his racing yacht Shamrock V. Sir Thomas has been trying to bring the cup to England for the past 25 years. The Irish are a fighting race of people, and Sir Thomas is an Irishman who never gives up. He is 81 years old, yet he is ever youthful in hope. Should he again fail to win the cup he will probably keep on trying until he does gain possession of it.

Thousands of American hearts have already been won by this gallant Irishman. Even though it means that the cup will leave the United States, I favor Sir Thomas Lipton in the race which will take place about the middle of September. What if the cup does leave the United States? We can regain possession of it by superior seamanship next time.

Use of Monroe Doctrine to Stir Up Latin America Is Machiavellian Job.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your editorial of August 21 on the Munroe Doctrine was most timely. If Machiavelli were alive today in any European foreign office, there is nothing he would enjoy more than stirring up Latin America to attack the doctrine which has preserved it from European exploitation.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Lindsay Host At Embassy to Bar Visitors

600 Attend Reception in New Building; First Held There.

By JEAN ELIOT.

GUESTS from a score of dinner parties given for groups of the foreign guests of the American Bar Association came together last evening at the reception given by the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, at the British Embassy. This was one of the most brilliant events of the round of entertaining arranged for the visitors and had special interest as the first big fete given in the new British Embassy.

Some 600 guests attended the reception, distinguished officials and members of the legal fraternity of Washington, with their wives, being invited besides the group of foreign guests. Lady Lindsay being out of town, the Ambassador received alone, with members of the embassy staff to assist in welcoming the guests. An orchestra played on the broad terrace which opens from the ballroom and overlooks the embassy gardens, now beginning to take form under the direction of expert landscape architects.

The new embassy is beautifully arranged for entertaining, guests entering into a two-storied, stone-lined hallway, which is also the picture gallery, with portraits of British royalties smiling down from the walls. A double stone stairway leads to the drawing room floor and to a long vaulted corridor from which open the drawing rooms, the ballroom, where Sir Ronald Lindsay stood to greet his guests, and the dining room in which supper was served at midnight.

Vice President Curtis attended the dinner for a group of men, which the Ambassador gave before the reception, remaining for the fete in the evening. The dinner was in compliment of some of the British members of bench and bar, who are attending the Bar Association meeting in Washington, the group of special guests including the Right Hon. Lord Tomlin, the Right Hon. Lord Macmillan, Sir William Jowitt, Sir Boyd Merriman, Sir William Bull, Sir John Simon, Sir Roger Gregory, Mr. Walter Frampton, Mr. Reginald Playfair Hills, Mr. Francis Raymond Evershed and Mr. James Stevenson Leadbetter and Mr. William Campbell Johnston, of the Scots bar.

Other guests at the dinner were the Minister of South Africa, Mr. Eric Louw; the Secretary of War, Mr. Patrick H. Hurley; Justice Willis Van Devanter, the Charge d'Affaires of Canada, Mr. Hume Wrong; the Undersecretary of State, Mr. Joseph P. Cotton; Mr. Justice Fenton Booth, Mr. Thomas D. Thacher, Solicitor General; Mr. G. H. Hackworth, Solicitor of the State Department; Mr. Vallance, of the State Department; Mr. William Hard, Mr. Charles Henry Butler, Mr. Pierre Boal, Col. J. Miller Kenyon, president of the District of Columbia Bar Association; Col. William J. Donovan and Mr. Ronald Ian Campbell, Sir John Joyce Broderick, Mr. C. J. W. Torr, Commander W. C. Horton and Mr. Michael Wright, of the embassy staff.

The wives of some of the distinguished Britishers, who were guests at the embassy, were included in the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacCracken, Jr., at the Plage Deauville at Wardman Park Hotel. They enjoyed informal dancing before going to the British Ambassador's reception.

In Mr. and Mrs. MacCracken's party were the Hon. Helen Tomlin, Lady Macmillan, the Honorable Lady Macnaughten, Lady Jowitt, Lady Simon, Mrs. Francis Raymond Evershed, Lady Bull, Lady Gregory, M. and Mme. Marcel Bloch, Mrs. Simeon Lewis, the Assistant to the Attorney General and Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, the Commercial Secretary of the British Embasy and Mrs. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, Col. Blanton Winship, Mrs. Olive Ricker, M. Henri Decugis, Mr. James Miller Thompson, Mr. Cecil Montgomery White, Mr. Edward James, Mr. Hugh Goltein, M. Jean Paul Antoine Georges Daumas, and Brereton-Barry.

The Charge d'Affaires of the Irish Free State, Mr. William J. B. Macauley, was host at a dinner to Justice Hanna, of the Irish bench, and the members of the Irish Bar attending the conference. Judge Mary O'Toole entertained a large company at dinner at the Women's City Club, with twenty of the foreign visitors, both men and women, as the honor guests; and Mr. Frank J. Hogan had a dinner for 50 men, including groups of delegates from England, France asd Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Taliaferro had a dinner for ten, with Mr. James Dale Cassel, K. C., and Mrs. Cassel as the ranking guests. Others who had dinner parties last evening and went with their guests to the embassy reception were Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Bright, Mrs. J. Miller Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas Dunlop, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ash, who entertained at the Chevy Chase Club, and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, whose party was given at the Congressional Country Club.

While most of the entertaining for the Bar Association visitors has been official in character, with clubs or hotels as a setting, they had opportunity yesterday to absorb impressions of the American home. The reception yesterday afternoon, for which the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson were hosts, was given at Woodley, their beautiful estate on the outskirts of town; and earlier in the day the entire group was entertained at a buffet luncheon at Stone Ridge, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hamilton.

Small tables were set about in the house and the beautiful garden and there was a delightful air of informality about the fete. Members of the various committees appointed to carry out the program of hospitality for the visitors assisted Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, and the judges of the local courts, with many members of the legal profession in Washington, were in the company.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Lowe, who left Washington a few weeks ago to make their home in New York, are at present visiting Miss Mildred Tytus and Miss Victoria Tytus at Ashintully, their place at Tyringham in the Berkshires.

Garden Party Is Enjoyed by Foreign Group

Stimsons Hosts at Fete for Visitors at Woodley.

It was an in-and-out-door party which the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson gave yesterday afternoon at Woodley for the American Bar Association's foreign guests. A heavy shower, breaking just before the time of the fete, made it necessary for the hosts to receive in the drawing room instead of the garden, as they had originally planned, and tea was served from a long table in the dining room, decked with garden flowers—hydrangea, summer lilies and candytuft. But, although the storm clouds lingered, the rain let up and the guests soon wandered out into the garden to stroll about under the trees and to listen to music by the Army Band.

Eventually Secretary and Mrs. Stimson joined the company out of doors and presently bowls of punch appeared as if by magic under the striped awnings of the refreshment tents. Guests grouped themselves on the broad veranda of Woodley to chat and smoke and others spent a fruitful half-hour inspecting some of the treasures of the Secretary and Mrs. Stimson's delightful home, notably the fine collection of stags' heads in the dining room and the interesting souvenirs of their residence in the Philippines.

Mrs. Stimson, who is always gowned conservatively, yet in the mode of the moment, wore a gown of sapphire blue lace, its skirt made in tiers, and a hat of thin black straw. She had a small sable scarf about her throat.

Garden party frocks were in high favor in spite of threatening skies. Lady Jowitt, wife of the British attorney general, had chosen a smart model of black chiffon flowered in shades of red, which was made with a cape bertha and with which she wore a black hat. Mrs. Francis Hill, very tall and slim, wore a princess frock of beige flowered chiffon with a deep flounce of lavendar chiffon, and a huge lavender picture hat. Mrs. John Thomas Taylor sponsored organdie and was a charming picture in a blue gown with a floppy garden hat of pale pink straw.

The British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, was an early arrival, bringing with him Sir William and Lady Jowitt; and, although many of the diplomats are still away, there was a sprinkling of the chiefs of missions among the guests. Among them were the Minister of Portugal, Viscount d'Alte; the Minister of China, Dr. Wu; the Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Konitza; the Charge d'Affaires of Cuba, Dr. Barron, and the Charge d'Affaires of Ecuador, Mr. Coronado. The Chinese Minister was accompanied by Mme. Wu, an engaging figure in her native dress.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Mellon, strolled in alone, but was soon surrounded by an animated group of men. Others present beside the distinguished foreign contingent were Brig. Gen. Henry T. Allen, Mr. Philip Pitt Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harriman, Mrs. George Becker, Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller Kenyon, Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Bright, Interstate Commerce Commissioner and Mrs. Clyde Aitchison, Mrs. Charles Lefevre, Mr. and Mrs. Bowdoin Craighill, Mrs. Charles Binns Tebbs, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ash and Dr. Stanley Hornbeck.

Mr. Richard Southgate, of the State Department, made the introductions.

The President and Mrs. Hoover have as guests Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson, of California, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Nutt, of Cleveland, who arrived at the White House yesterday.

The Charge d'Affaires of Poland, Mr. Stanislaw Lepkowski, entertained at luncheon yesterday in compliment to Mr. Teodozy Noswicz, director of the department of navigation of the Polish ministry of industry and commerce, and Mme. Noswicz. The visitors arrived in New York Tuesday aboard the S. S. Polonia, the first liner to enter New York Harbor flying the Polish flag.

Other guests at the luncheon were Mr. Green H. Hackworth, Solicitor of the State Department, and Mrs. Hackworth; Mr. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce; Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Packer, Mr. Clayton Lane, United States Consul to Warsaw, and Mrs. Lane; Col. and Mrs. A. B. Barber, Dr. Michael Strazewski, Polish Consul to Montreal, and members of the embassy staff.

Mr. John Pelenyi, retiring Counselor of the Hungarian Legation at Washington, and Mme. Pelenyi sailed yesterday on the Ile de France for Europe and will go to Geneva, Mr. Pelenyi having been named Hungarian delegate to the League of Nations. They have been at Newport through the summer. Since the departure of the Hungarian Minister, Count Laszlo Szechenyi, for Europe, Mr. Pelenyi has been serving as Charge d'Affaires. His duties have been taken over by Mr. Nicholas Vegh, who has arrived at Newport and has taken an apartment at the Muenchinger-King for the rest of the season.

Murray Bay Is Again Home Of Mrs. Taft

Returns to Canada After Journeying About in Europe.

For the first time since the death of Chief Justice William Howard Taft, one time President of the United States, Mrs. Taft has returned to Murray Bay, P. Q., Canada, where the late Chief Justice and his family spent so many happy summers. After a trip abroad with her sister, Miss Maria Herron, of Cincinnati, Mrs. Taft landed recently at Quebec from the liner Duchess of York and she went thence to Murray Bay to remain until autumn.

Murray Bay first welcomed the Tafts in 1892 when Mr. Taft was judge of the Circuit Court of Ohio, Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee and Indiana. At the same time his brother, the late Mr. Charles P. Taft, brought his family to the picturesque resort on the north shore of the St. Lawrence. For a while the two families stayed at Chamard's famous "pension," which stood on the site of the present Manoir Richelieu, but the following year the brothers bought two farm houses nearby in which to establish permanent summer homes. Wings were added as the families grew and interior alterations were made, but the two places still have much of the simple charm of their beginnings.

Rumors have been current that, with both Chief Justice Taft and his brother gone, the two properties might be sold. But they appear to be groundless, for Mrs. Taft has expressed her intention of visiting Murray Bay annually for some years to come and of retaining her pleasant home there as a gathering place for her sons and daughters and for the numerous Taft grandchildren.

Mr. Henry L. d'A. Hopkinson, formerly third secretary of the British Embassy, and Mrs. Hopkinson are in New York for a few days prior to sailing for England. They have been in this country for two months' leave, making a brief visit in Washington.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. George H. Rock have reopened their house at 1616 Twenty-second street, after an absence of two months, spent on the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter have returned from Saratoga Springs to their summer home at Beverley Farms, Mass.

The Hon. and Mrs. John Francis Amherst Cecil, who have been at Biltmore House, Asheville, N. C., since their return from a trip to Bermuda in the early summer, sailed yesterday on the Berengaria for Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grant Mason, jr., of Havana, have joined Mr. Mason's sister, Mrs. S. Sloan Colt, at the Barclay in New York.

Miss Marjorie Mott Married In China.

Mrs. Ernest Julian Mott, of San Francisco, who is now in China, has cabled friends and relatives announcing the marriage on August 16 in Hong Kong, China, of her daughter, Miss Marjorie Mott, to Mr. David C. Berger, American Consul in Swatow.

The bride was graduated from Miss Ransom's School in Piedmont, Calif., and later studied at the University of California. Her mother is vice president of the Board of Education in San Francisco and is former California regional director of the League of Women Voters. Mr. Berger, who is a native of Virginia, went to Roanoke College in Salem, Va., and later to Georgetown University in Washington, where he studied for the foreign service. Later he studied at the Language School in Pekin.

Lieut. Reginald D. Thomas, of New Haven, Conn., is at the Carlton for a few days, accompanied by Mr. Edward Sherman, also of New Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Lloyd are passing a few days at the Wardman Park Hotel before going to Maine for the remainder of the season. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd will return to Washington in the fall.

Miss Sabbamma Venkataratnam, of Rajahmundry, India, has been at the Dodge Hotel for several days accompanied by Miss Vinodinee Neelkanth, of Ahmedabad. The young ladies have been in the United States for more than a year, during which time they have won their master's degrees at the University of Michigan. Miss Venkataratnam and Miss Neelkanth will sail Saturday from New York for Europe, where they will spend a month before returning to India.

Mrs. Bryon Andrews, who has been making her home at 1661 Crescent place, is visiting at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Plans Holiday

Bachrach.

MRS. GUY WITHERS, wife of Maj. Withers, U. S. A. Maj. and Mrs. Withers will leave on September 3 for a trip to Mackinac, Mich.; French Lick Springs and White Sulphur Springs.

Visitors In Washington Depart for North.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Broodeen, of Carthay Circle, Los Angeles, Calif., who have been visiting Washington as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clifford Burke, have left by motor for New York. They will visit Lake George, Cape Cod, and Boston before going West. Many fastivities were arranged for the visitors, including a dinner given under the trees at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Parks have returned to their residence on Hesketh street after a motor trip to Atlantic City and Hartford, Conn., and a visit with Mrs. Ralph Sabin at Beech Hill Inn, Westport, on Lake Champlain, N. Y.

Mrs. T. Brooks McBride, of Chester, Pa., is visiting Dr. and Mrs. J. N. Myers on Girard street. She has been entertained at luncheon and dinner by Mrs. John Thomas Borden, wife of Commander Borden, in their home at the Navy Yard.

Your Mattresses Made New Like This

He couldn't sleep late in the morning. He was tired of sleeping by sun-up—a proverbial early riser. Now all this is changed. He welcomes an added hour or two of sleep. It is all because his wife sent the mattresses here to be made new. The sleep-producing difference between your old mattresses and a new one is amazing. Try it.

Let us make your old mattress into a sanitary buoyant new one. Phone us and a representative will call promptly with sample book of attractive tickings from which to select a new covering.

Your old mattress will then be taken to our plant and put through a sterlizer. There 230 degrees of heat kills all germs. The hair felt or kapok is taken out—run through a cleaner—every particle of dirt is removed. Then the hair, felt, or kapok is put into charming brand-new ticking you select.

The work is done in one day at a cost of only $4 to $9. Mattresses, box springs and pillows renovated or made to order at factory prices.

DIAL FLASHES

KDKA, Pittsburgh, has announced a new record for a rebroadcast radio program. The distance covered was approximately 22,300 miles, a much greater one than that of the Byrd broadcast from the other end of the world last spring. Signals from a transmitting station in French Indo-China were picked up by VK2ME, Sydney, Australia, and from there transmitted to KDKA. The Pittsburgh station rebroadcast the signals to Australia, and at the same time broadcast the program on its regular wave length.

There is little doubt but that this winter will be marked by several more elaborate radio broadcasts than those of the past season. A 90-minute program with pick-ups from nine American cities from Maine to California has been announced for the evening of September 18. This feature, dedicated to the American Legion, will offer addresses by governors of eight States, the national commander of the American Legion and the mayor of Boston. Boston will be the key city, and pick-up points include Portland, Me., Portland, Oreg., New York City, Washington, Jacksonville, Fla., Dallas, Chicago and San Francisco.

GRAHAM M'NAMEE will be at the microphone for description of the American Legion's national baseball tournament from Memphis, Tenn., this afternoon (WJZ, 3:30 o'clock).

Two races, the Hopeful Stakes and the Saratoga Cup, will be broadcast from the Saratoga track on Saturday afternoon.

Peggy Clarke, who gives the daily household talk over Station WOL each weekday morning, is beginning her third year with the station.

SIGN language has superseded whispering in the CBS studios. No longer do announcers tiptoe into a corner to hear what the production man wishes to say. A code of signals made by swinging the arms in different directions or extending them at various angles tells the announcer through a double plate glass observation window exactly what to do.

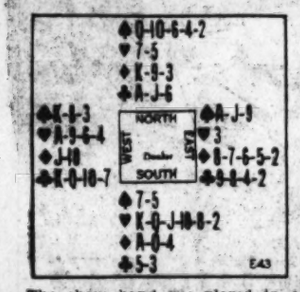
Microphones, pianos and even speakers can be moved from point to point in the studio by silent orders reaching the announcer via the sign language route from the control booth.

Arcadie Birkenholz, violinist, has a new set of golf clubs which are useless to him. He recently took up the game, only to find that it so stiffened his violin fingers that he could scarcely play.

A woman has written to Station WLW, at Cincinnati, who claims to have been bewitched, and wants the station to break the spell.

WORK ON BRIDGE

A WELL-PLAYED HAND.



The above hand was played in a game of Contract, the bidding being: South two Hearts, North three No Trumps and South four Hearts.

The Auction bidding probably would have been: South one Heart, North one No Trump, South two Hearts, North two Spades, South three Hearts.

In Auction it would be sound for South to rebid Hearts to show greater strength than his one-bid indicated; but in Contract the return to four Hearts might be considered a little dangerous, although it would be a peculiar North hand which, with South's assistance, could made three No Trumps and yet could not assist South to win four Hearts. With game seemingly assured at either Declaration, the 100 Heart honors should be considered.

When the hand was played at Hearts, West led his King of Clubs and the Declarer, after viewing his dummy, realized that he must lose one Heart and one Club, and that he would lose two Spades unless he could discard one of them. His best chance to discard a Spade would be afforded by ducking the first Club. West would not continue the Clubs with dummy's Ace-Jack over him, and might lead a Spade, but would be more apt to lead a Diamond through dummy's King.

Declarer's scheme worked satisfactorily. West led the Jack of Diamonds which South won with the A♦. Knowing that he would not escape from the Spade lead a second time, South then led a Club, winning with dummy's Jack; and to trick 4 the Ace of Clubs from dummy, on which he discarded a Spade. Trick 5 was a trump led from dummy and won by West, who now led a Spade, but it was too late to save the game. Declarer ruffed the second spade, drew the trumps and with his dummy's aid took all the Diamonds. Had North won the first Club trick, West would surely have led Spades before South could have obtained a discard.

Dare Interprets the MODE

Rather pale blue wool makes the delightful ensemble, including the hat. Trimming of silver braid and a white organdy and linen collar furnish the personality touches. (Courtesy of Martial et Armand, Paris.)

Paris, Aug. 27.

DO you give sufficient thought to your daughter's school wardrobe?

Perhaps you did not have the experience as a child of attending a school where the other children were thoughtlessly snobbish. Children can be so cruel in a subtle way, and as they are limited in scope, usually concentrates on their clothing.

With the stubborn hurt pride that children know, your daughter may never mention these things to you. Yet the wrong kind of clothing may have a very bad effect upon her school work, not to mention an extremely bad psychological effect on her morale, an effect she may carry with her through life.

• • • •

Of course, what your daughter may consider the correct school garments, or the garments she would like to wear to school, may not be what you know to be in good taste. Your problem here is not to insist upon her wearing things she does not like, but once you are assured of their correctness, to teach her the reasons for wearing them. Which not only saves you endless trouble in the long run, but develops her good taste for later life.

School openings will soon be here. Why not start at once giving your daughter's wardrobe the consideration it deserves?

• • • •

Now you know perfectly well that some time in your young life you are going to wish you knew how to make skirts! I mean, all of the kind of skirts there are to know how to make—circular ones, wrap-around ones, pleated ones, or top fitted ones. Yes, I knew you would like to know, if not today, some time, so I made you a leaflet telling you how to make them. And in the same leaflet, blouse tops made of knitted wools, or knitted sweater tops, or sleeveless sweaters, oh, it's a good leaflet—better send that stamped, self-addressed envelope for it right away! To the Dare department of The Washington Post.

Blue is one of these important colors this autumn again, softish blues, vivid blues in sportswear and evening, duller blues for daytime. So I thought you would like to see Martial et Armand's little blue ensemble with cunning white linen and organdy collar, and a hat fashioned of the same blue woolen material that makes the ensemble. For chic, touches of tiny silver braid. Hum, I wish I could wear blue.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"VIRGO."

IF August 28 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:30 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., from noon to 1 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Romanticists and sentimentalists will delight in the happy-go-lucky atmosphere of this date. Your heart may be filled with happiness and joy, whilst your pockets are liable to be emptied of their money. A sudden friendship with one of the opposite sex, which may change your life.

The child born on this August 28 will be impractical, and of an artistic temperament. It will be bright, vivacious, entertaining and bravely original. It will seek the limelight rather than a domestic life. It will be difficult for it to settle down in life.

You are a modern being in many senses of the words, and you not only keep abreast of the times, but are in many instances ahead of them. You are afraid of looking, or being thought old-fashioned. You identify yourself with high adventures of life and progress. You possess the most valuable quality of adaptability. You make the crossing from one period of your life into the next, from one set of conditions to another, with comparative ease and success. You are not easily flabbergasted. You are rather too intolerant toward those who sit comfortably back in the armchairs of the past, opposing all changes that disturb fixed things and settled habits. You believe that you have no sentiment, but it will play its part in your life, when the lighter days of your youth have passed. You will scoff and flirt with love, until the right man or woman comes along, when you will be fickle no longer.

As a Virgo man or woman, you are constructive and able to make the most of your conditions. You undoubtedly belong in the business world, where you will shine as a success. You are a good reasoner, and an ingenious worker. You are precise in details, and you can constructively pick things to pieces. You are good at self-analysis, and try to right any errors and defects in your own character. Your keen intellect will come from experience more than from education.

The Goofus Goldfish

The Goofus Goldfish in his bowl
Like Old King Cole is a Merry Old Soul.
But he hasn't always been so gay
For traveling salesmen had a way
Of butting in and selling things
Like colored shells and feeding rings.
He first tried "PRIVATE" on the glass
But still the salesmen came to gas.
Then at last he stopt them with this sign:

MY DEN—KEEP OUT
(signed) GOOFUS LION!

Next Winter
by putting up fruit

This year sugar is so cheap and fruit so plentiful that home canning is real economy.

For the winter diet you can't have too much canned fruit. It is wholesome for everybody and adds variety to every menu.

Since sugar is exceedingly cheap and fine fruit plentiful, you will be surprised at how many jars of fruit and glasses of jelly can be put up without taxing your present food budget. And next winter when you start using this fruit you will be away ahead financially.

In addition to putting up preserves, jellies and jams, it is decidedly worth while to make some relishes and pickles. These are zestful accompaniments for meat and fish.

Plan now to put up some fruit. Just look at the low price of sugar and fruit and you'll see that home canning is real economy. A bit of sweet makes the meal complete. The Sugar Institute.

CAPITAL MAN NAMED COLORED ELKS' HEAD

J. Finley Wilson Gets Ninth Term by Acclamation in Detroit.

HOWARD ALSO HONORED

Special to The Washington Post.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—J. Finley Wilson, grand exalted ruler of colored Elks, was reelected for a ninth term today by acclamation at the thirty-first annual session of the grand lodge, held in Armory Hall. This reelection carries with it appointment of Perry W. Howard as grand legal adviser. Approximately 3,000 Elks came by excursion from Washington to participate in the annual parade yesterday led by Herbert E. Jones, Dr. Leo B. Holton, Estelle Herbert and Alethia Williams.

Lemuel H. Brown, of the Dunbar High School, in Washington, was defeated by T. H. Ward, of Boston, for first award in the annual oratorical contest, held at Orchestra Hall. Ward received $500 from Judge W. C. Hueston, assistant solicitor of the Post-office Department, who is commissioner of education, while Brown received $100. Both were awarded a $1,000 scholarship to the college of their choice. The contest was judged by Bishop W. T. Vernon, former register of the Treasury; James A. Jackson, head of the small business unit of the Department of Commerce, and George W. Lee, of Memphis.

Judge Hueston stated that his department had collected $79,000 and disbursed $50,000 to Negro students, more than 25 per cent of whom have obtained highest collegiate honors. All but five lodges in Virginia were represented in the convention, four of which were unable to send delegates. Attorney Walter Land, of Norfolk, stated to the convention today:

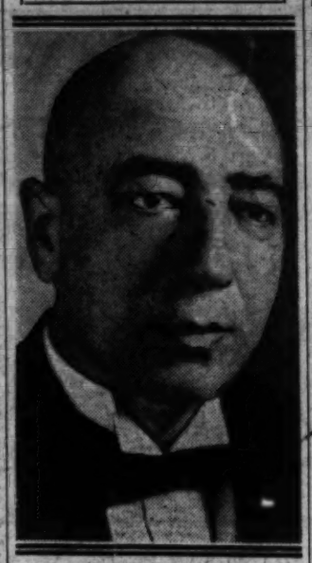
"There is no lodge in Virginia except that with which James T. Carter is connected, which has approved or condoned the actions of a few men whose names appear on the newly obtained Virginia charter. Virginia sends greetings and says that when all of the lodges are financially able they will elect what body they will function with."

India Congress Group Placed Under Arrest

Delhi, India, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Practically the entire working committee of the all-India national congress was arrested here today. Those taken into custody included V. J. Patel, who resigned his post as president of the legislative assembly to partake in the civil disobedience campaign.

It was officially announced that the six members of the committee arrested were Malaviya, Patel, Manga Singh, Deepnarany Singh, B. C. Roy, Matradas Tricumji. Dr. Ansari, president of the congress, and Rajarao, permanent undersectary of the congress also were arrested. The two women members present were not taken into custody.

MUSICIAN DIES



ANTONIO CELFO.

Antonio Celfo, 57, Musician, Is Dead

End Comes Suddenly to Man Who Won Note in Washington.

Antonio Celfo, 57, musician, composer and conductor, died suddenly late Tuesday night at his home, 66 U street northwest. Death was attributed to a heart attack. Coming to this country from Italy when a young man, Mr. Celfo successfully toured the East as a virtuoso before becoming a member of the United States Marine Band, the Washington Symphony Orchestra and other musical groups here.

Aside from occasional concert tours through the East and Midwest, Mr. Celfo's activities included ten years' service as instructor in the Washington College of Music and Art.

He was a member of the National Masonic Lodge, No. 12; Almas Temple; Albert Pike Consistory, Kalipolis Grotto, the Musicians Association of Greater New York and the Musicians Protective Union, of which he was the local vice president. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Fillipia Celfo.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Visitor From Ohio Sought.

Police yesterday were asked to search for Calvin B. Smith, of Denison, Ohio, who is supposed to be staying in a local hotel. His wife's father is dead, and police were asked to notify the man, whose local address is unknown to his family.

AIR COURSE IS ENDED BY 400 MIDSHIPMEN

Second Class Gives Dance; Starts on Month's Leave Today.

CRUISING SHIPS ARE DUE

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 27.—Midshipmen of the second class, numbering more than 400, today ended a course of intensive instruction in aeronautics and flight tactics, covering nearly three months, and tonight a dance was given by them in Dahlgren Hall that attracted a large number of the younger set from Washington, Baltimore and other nearby cities.

Tomorrow the midshipmen will go on leave for one month. Parents of many motored here from all points of the country and will take their sons home.

Meanwhile the first and third class midshipmen are aboard the three battleships of the summer practice cruising squadron that returned from a foreign cruise two weeks ago and have since been engaged in target practice outside the capes of the Chesapeake. The ships will proceed up the bay tomorrow night, arriving off Annapolis early Friday morning. The midshipmen will disembark as promptly as possible and they, too, will go on leave.

The aviation course here was under the direction of Commander Dewitt C. Ramsay, of the Naval Academy staff. The schedule carried the midshipment through every branch of air navigation with the exception of actual piloting of planes. A squadron of planes, most of them of modern design, was used, and there was not a semblance of mishap to mar the whole period.

Two Pistols Stolen From Home.

Two pistols were taken from the home of Albert Mackenzie at 1101 Raum street northeast, he told police yesterday. One was a .38-caliber revolver, and the other a revolver of .22 caliber. They were valued at $21.50.

FLIES AT 17

FRANK T. HEINEMANN.

Capital Boy, 17, Is Flying Solo

Heinemann Holds Record Also for Least Hours for Instruction.

Frank T. Heinemann, 17-year-old aviator, is the youngest District youth to fly solo and also holds the record for the least number of hours of dual instruction by five minutes. It is 7 hours and 10 minutes

Heinemann received all his instructions from Lieut. W. C. Buell, chief instructor of the District of Columbia Air Legion. The young aviator's landings at Hybla Valley, Va., were so perfect that Lieut. Buell decided to let him try alone. Heinemann gave the plane the gun, took off and flew for fifteen minutes, making a perfect landing. He is the son of Charles B. Heinemann, of 4840 Lowell street northwest.

The previous low record of dual instruction was held by Don D. Millar, also a member of the District of Columbia Air Legion. It was 7 hours and 15 minutes.

SPILMAN RITES TODAY.

Postoffice Department to Close In Respect to Late Inspector.

The Postoffice Department will be closed at 3 o'clock this afternoon out of respect for William R. Spilman, veteran chief inspector, who died suddenly Monday afternoon at the age of 60. Funeral services for Mr. Spilman will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Gunton Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church, interment following at Manhattan, Kans., on Saturday.

The body will lie in state until 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Hines undertaking parlors, Fourteenth and Harvard streets northwest.

Mr. Spilman was stricken with a heart attack while on vacation in Maine. His widow and a 10-year-old son survive him. His residence here was at 1645 Hobart street northwest.

Bandits Take $2,500 In Branch-Bank Holdup

Detroit, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Two men forced Frank Marsh, manager of the Ferndale Branch of the American State Bank, to open the vault at 9 a. m. today and escaped with $2,500.

The man pressed guns against Marsh's back as the manager left his automobile in front of the bank, forced him to walk to the bank office and then made him open the vault.

Bank Head Surrenders In Embezzlement Case

Madison, Wis., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—F. J. Frazier, former cashier of the Farmers National Bank of Glenwood City, Wis., charged with embezzling $61,813 of the bank's funds, surrendered to Federal authorities today. He had been sought for a week.

Four Boys Buried Alive Under Gravel Cave-In

Owensboro, Ky., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Four boys lost their lives in a cave-in of gravel near Bremen, in Muhlenberg County today. They were Ezra Vincent, 10, and R. H. Vincent, 15, brothers, and Raymond Shanks, 13, and J. C. Shanks, 11, brothers.

The boys were digging gravel from a hillside to be placed on a road. Fifty men dug for an hour and a half before they recovered the bodies.

Fire Marshal to Be Selected.

The Civil Service Commission announced yesterday that applications will be received until September 17 for the position of fire marshal of the District Fire Department. The salary is $5,000 a year. The fire marshal acts as chief fire-prevention assistant to the chief engineer of the department.

YANKS RENEW SECOND-PLACE BID IN CAPITAL TODAY

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Though sweetness and moderation are my guiding stars in all my dealings with the wealthy prize fighters, I may as well admit that sometimes I fall to sulking about the unequal distribution of the spoils of the business, and, at such moments, am likely to demand some law limiting the prize fighter's compensation to $5 an hour, with time out for the clinches.

The pugilists are partly to blame for these deplorable breaches of loyalty to the ennobling sport. They have no tact. They go lolling along the boulevards in pale blue sedans as long as hook-and-ladder trucks, they pay $160 for their suits in lots of one dozen and $35 for their shoes by the case, and they speak with contempt of $100,000, a sacred sum to me.

I try to be broad-minded. I can discuss religion with a Kleagle or prohibition with the Rev. F. Scott McBride in a calm and reasonable spirit, but when any man shows disrespect for $100,000, I wince and hate him for a bigot and a boor.

Fighters Manifest Rude Contempt.

Can nothing be done to teach the wealthy prize fighters humility and respect for the feelings of others? Sometimes I remind them that they are very punk prize fighters with spotty records, but that doesn't humiliate them. Instead, they call me a destructive critic, which only hurts my feelings again. Or, if I suggest that their importance is purely illusory and that they would have spent their years in common toil and modest circumstances but for the kindness of the press they manifest rude contempt. Journalists, they insist, are the servants of their ambitions and any paper that fails to record their affairs will lose circulation and consequently advertising and consequently money. They have this all figured out in their dumb, egotistical way, and the annoying part of it all to me is that they seem to be right.

Sometimes the newspaper publishers consider plans to take steps to make the prize fight promoters pay for their advertising, as the show producers do, but nothing ever comes of these suggestions. Prize fighting is a department of the amusement industry and no more sporting nowadays, if it ever was, than Ringling's circus or a musical comedy at Ziegfeld's place.

Fighters Accepted as News.

But fighters are news, by the newspaper standards of the day, whereas acrobats, elephants and actors are news only when they fall into adventures of some comic, tragic or scandalous nature. Even then the city desk scans the story with a suspicious eye, lest some press agent's invention obtains space next to pure

Robins Near 2d Place, Defeating Giants, 7-2

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The Brooklyn Robins came out of a seven-game losing streak today to triumph over the Giants, 7 to 2, in the first of their four battles for second place in the National League. The Robins, who had dropped from first place to a precarious third as they dropped fifteen out of eighteen games before meeting the Giants, reduced New York's margin to a half game by today's triumph.

Jim Elliott pitched a good game for Brooklyn after he was called to the mound in the second inning to replace Bill Clark, who was ejected for arguing with Umpire Jorda over a called ball. Bill Walker opposed him on even terms until the fifth inning, when Johnny Frederick's home run with Elliott on base put the Robins ahead.

The Giants tied the score at 2-2 in the fifth, but dropped behind in the next frame, when the Robins scored two more runs off Hub Pruett. A three-run rally in the ninth with Joe Heving as the victim completed the Brooklyn triumph.

U.S. Trackmen Beat British By 9 to 5

8 Records Shattered as Stars of 2 Nations Clash.

Crowd of 35,000 See U. S. Sprint Relay in Victory.

SOLDIER FIELD, Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The United States defeated the British Empire, 9 to 5, in their dual meet tonight, in which eight records for the meet were smashed.

Athletes wearing the shield of the United States on their breasts flashed to victory in the opening event of the dual meet.

The event was the 400-yard relay in which the United States quartet composed of Russell Sweet, Cy Leland, George Simpson and Eddie Tolan, defeated the Britons by 10 yards in :37.5.

As the athelets from Briton's far-flung empire made their bid for supremacy, the huge stadium, brilliantly illuminated with a powerful lighting system, contained more than 35,000 spectators.

The British flag was raised in victory fo rthe first time after the one-mile relay, which the Britons won in a thrilling battle in 3:16:8.

Riley Williamson, of Oklahoma Baptist, out raced K. C. Brakwin, of England, by three yards in the first quarter, but Nate Long, of the University of Utah, was unable to stand off the rush of A. Golding, of Australia, who gave the Empire Team, a two-yard margin.

W. J. Wulters, of South Africa, maintained the advantage against John Lewis, eDtroit College Negro, and Alex Wilson, of Canada, added another yard in his quarter against Victor Williams, of the University of Southern California.

Nelson, Iowan, Wins $10,000 Swim Prize In 15-Mile Marathon Race on Lake Toronto

Overhauls Leader on Last Lap; Fresh at Finish.

Canadian Is Second; Young, Favorite, Collapses.

TORONTO, Ontario, Aug. 27 (A. P.).—Denied the privilege of finishing in the money group last year by the cold waters of Lake Ontario, Marvin Nelson, bronzed young swimmer from Fort Dodge, Iowa, today came back to conquer the same chilly waters and win the 15-mile Canadian national exhibition marathon swim and $10,000.

After swimming the course, banked by thousands of spectators, in 7 hours 43 minutes 36 1-5 seconds for a new world's record, Nelson climbed on the finishing float seemingly as fresh and strong as when he plunged into the lake together with nearly 200 other men and one woman.

Last year he was barred from the prize money when he collapsed unconscious with the end only 50 yards away.

In a race, which saw the collapse of George Young, winner of the Catalina Island swim; Frank Pritchard, of Buffalo, who set the early pace; Mendel Burditt, Eli Radakovich and many other famous swimmers, Nelson persisted to overhaul one after another of the leaders, finally passing Isador Spondor, of Port Colborne, Ontario, at the beginning of the eighth and last lap. In the last 4 miles the Fo . Dodge swimmer overcame Spondor's lead of 250 yards and then finished 500 yards ahead of his Canadian rival.

Nelson's gesture of victory, when he lifted both hands high out of the water, brought immediate response from the thousands massed along the lake front. He strolled about the float with little evidence of weariness and was the first to greet Spondor when the Port Colborne youngster climbed out of the water to win second place and $2,500. Spondor's time was 7:56:53 3-5.

Nearly one-half hour later, William F. Goll, of New York, crawled out of the water to take third place in 8:23:33 2-5. Fourth went to George Blagden, Memphis, Tenn., who was timed in 8:25:37 3-5. Fifth went to Ernest Vierkoetter, of Germany, but now a resident of Toronto, while Norman Ross, of Chicago, was sixth.

The new champion's smiling face lent support to his statement that he had enjoyed the swim immensely. His coach, the veteran Johnny Walker, said his protege was never in difficulties and had overhauled his rivals without injuring himself. At the same time a score of swimmers were huddled on cots at the temporary hospital 2 miles away, some writhing with cramps, others half unconscious —exhausted by their desperate efforts to stay in the race.

The warmest water in the history of swimming marathons at Toronto had helped the speedy Nelson to forge his way to victory. With the physique of a heavyweight prize fighter and a unique but clean-cut stroke, which begins with a sharp downward movement of the wrists, the Iowa boy had plenty of reserve strength.

Brickell Hero as Phils Conquer Braves, 9-3

Philadelphia, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The Phils defeated the Braves today in the opening game of a four-game series here, by the score of 9 to 3.

Fred Brickell, the outfielder from the Pittsburgh Pirates, had his home debut in a Philadelphia uniform and made three singles and a double in 5 times at bat, and was the batting star of the game.

The Phils batted Sox Seibold, usually poison to them, out of the box in 7 innings and hit Willie Sherdel for 4 runs in the eighth. Sweetland held the Braves to ten widely scattered hits, one of them a home run by Wally Berger, his thirtieth of the season.

Adams Stars for Cards In 2-1 Defeat of Reds

Cincinnati, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—"Sparky" Adams, substituting for Frankie Frisch at second base for the Cardinals, was poison to the Cincinnati Reds today as St. Louis swept the two-game series with a 2 to 1 victory.

Adams tripled in the first inning, scoring on High's grounder to Crawford. He walked to start the eighth, went to second on High's sacrifice, to third on Bottomley's grounder to Crawford and scored on Fisher's pop single back of second. Flint Rhem gave out ten hits, two more than Eppa Rixey.

Rockne Would Coach Football at Sing Sing

Chicago, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Knute Rockne, famous football coach at Notre Dame, hopes his next coaching job will be at Sing Sing.

The reason: The alumni never come back there to register kicks over the progress of football teams.

"That's the job I want," Rockne said at a luncheon yesterday before the British-American track athletes.

Lott and Doeg Extended to Five Sets

National Champions in Doubles Beat Vines-Gledhill.

Advance to Semifinal; Van Ryn-Allison Beat Wood-Shields.

By W. R. KING.

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Two sets of champions, holders of highly prized American and British tennis titles, battled here today to beat back the furious opposition of ambitious youngsters who fought valiantly to enter the semi-final round of the men's national doubles tourney on the Longwood turf courts.

For a time it appeared that George Lott and Johnny Doeg, the defending champions would be swept aside by the fight that Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, ambling Californians, made for fame. Johnny Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, the Davis Cup doubles team and Wimbledon champions, were pressed almost as hard by two other youths, Sydney Wood and Frank X. Shields, of New York. The champions, however, had the seasoning that steadied them for the decisive sets.

Lott and Doeg Smash Through Service.

Lott and Doeg were trailing two sets to one and four games to one in the fourth, when they rallied and smashed the services of each of their rivals, to square the match with an 8-to-6 victory. They then battered Vines' service in the fifth game of the last set and galloped on to victory. The scores were 1—6, 6—3, 4—6, 8—6, 6—4.

The Californians stretched the match to that limit by concentrating all their furious smashes and deceiving lobs against Doeg, who wobbled at regular intervals in each set.

Van Ryn and Allison dominated the early play against Wood and Shields, but suffered a serious let down. Their errors and failures to keep the ball in play gave the New Yorkers an opportunity to annex the fourth and trying set.

Van Ryn Reaches Heights.

Van Ryn rose to great heights in the final set, holding his services when the other three players were broken and the Wimbledon champions coasted home to a 3—6, 6—3, 11—9, 3—6, 6—3 victory that put them in the second last bracket for an encounter with Berkeley Bell, of Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., the Davis Cup Team spares, who advanced by defeating Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., and J. Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N.J., in a sparkling quarter-final match by scores of 4—6, 6—2, 6—3, 6—2.

Chisox Win Twin Bill From Indians, 14-5, 5-4

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Ted Lyons' pitching and savage batting of his teammates gave the Chicago White Sox a twin victory over Cleveland in a double-header opening their series today. Scores were 14 to 5 and 5 to 4.

The Sox pounded four Cleveland pitchers for 21 hits, which, combined with six errors, gave them the first game easily.

Lyons' twentieth victory of the season came only after he subdued a threatening rally in the ninth inning of the second game. Only two hits were made off him up to the seventh, when the Indians scored twice. Going into the ninth he had a 5-to-2 lead. Two singles followed by Lyons' peg into center field trying for a second-base forceout let in one run, and a sacrifice scored another. Lyons forced J. Sewell to ground out, however, to save the game.

GALLANT FOX TO RETIRE AT CLOSE OF 1930 SEASON

4 More Races For 1930 Champion

All-Time Record for Earnings Goal of Woodward Colt.

Lost Most of Glamour by His Defeat in Travers Stake.

Special to The Washington Post.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Gallant Fox will be retired at the close of the present racing season, it was announced officially today.

It is the intention of owner William Woodward to start the son of Sir Gallahad III in the Saratoga Cup next Saturday and in the Lawrence Realization and the Jockey Club Cup at Belmont Park, and that his last race will be at Latonia in the fall in the Latonia Championship. If he wins these races, which may be without keen competition, he will gain the mark set for him as the leading money winner of the world.

The point emphasized by this correspondent after Gallant Fox's Travers defeat still holds good, as it did about Reigh Count, that the horse is much the best of the year, but that his fluke in the Travers lost for him his glamour and relegated him to the position of merely a good horse.

On the day of the Travers Gallant Fox could have drawn 1,000 or 15,000 more people to any track, as he did at Saratoga, but in his future races it will be found he has ceased to be a big drawing card. He has lost the imaginary halo that some horses gain with the public; and once lost, this place in the sun is seldom regained.

Legion Finals Start In Memphis Today

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The biggest event in boys' baseball, the American Legion junior championship, starts here tomorrow with New Orleans and Baltimore playing for the title in a three-game series. Both teams arrived today and worked out this afternoon.

K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, was here to watch this culminating event in "the big league of the sandlots." James Barton, former national commander of the legion; President John D. Martin, of the Southern Association, and other notables will watch the series from a guest box.

The teams won to the finals by successes and in semifinals sectional games.

FERVID broke running, raced TEDDY into submission and drew out in stretch to win nicely in hand. MARSHMALLOW, well up from the start, saved ground in stretch and held on gamely. BATTY, mean at the barrier, broke slow, rushed up on the outside, made a determined bid in stretch, but weakened in last twenty yards. ALAMMA, untrue in early part, closed with a rush. TRANSFORMATION finished fast.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $1,200; conditions. Bounding Brook Steeplechase. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, easily. Went to post at 3:40½. Off at 3:41½. FAIRFIELD was pounds the best. He was rated in front and, fencing well, drew away clear in stretch to win nicely in hand. MOHOLI, his rider took things very easy. He eased the horse up in the stretch and at the end had to ride him hard to win. MOHOLI was kept with the pace for the entire trip and was running very strong at the end. DEVILKIN was rated for a turn of the field and finished fast. FAIR CLASS ran a good race. ROYAL FALCON fell at the fifth fence.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200 added. Stoney Creek Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:09. Off at 4:09½. Winner, J. F. Byers' ch. g. SONNELLI broke well, followed fast early pace closely, slipped through on inside when field went wide, closed fast and was up to win in last stride. JUDGE SCHILLING handled a weight well and held on gamely. RAPID TRANSIT, on the outside, raced along with JUDGE SCHILLING and held on gamely. SARAZEN II broke very slow, went up on outside, but was never a serious factor. SUN MEMORY appeared high in flesh and should improve off this race. SUBY was outrun.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500 added. Amsterdam Stakes. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 4:33. Off at 4:33. WASHINGTON PRINTERS BOW TO CHICAGO NINE, 12-7

Capital Team Loses Lead In 7th

Hutchinson Weakens, Allowing 6 Runs in Big Inning.

New York Also Dealt First Defeat in Tournament.

Special to The Washington Post.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 27.—Springing a rally on the champions from Washington in the seventh inning yesterday at Forbes Field, the Chicago Typos sent the champs down for their first defeat of the International Typographical Union Baseball Tournament, scoring a 12-7 victory.

It was a weird exhibition of successive hits in the six-run rally that tumbled the Washington Team from its perch after it had apparently assumed a comfortable lead over Chicago.

Hutchinson weakened just enough to permit Chicago to get going properly, and they trained their guns on the adjoining fences to batter down a lead and step into the leading role of the tournament. A big feature was a home-run drive in the eighth inning that went to the center-field fence, the terrific blow coming with first on base.

Washington Takes 7-Run Lead.

Washington assumed an early lead by counting a brace of runs in the first two innings and adding three more in the fourth. With a seven-run lead it looked like a repetition of Washington's sensational victories of the Printers' Tourney thus far, but the Chicago boys started counting a hit themselves in the fifth and sixth innings, when two runs were sent across in each frame. Then came the weird seventh to topple the Washington Team.

New York, also previously unbeaten in the tournament, lost to Detroit, 3 to 2. Pittsburgh defeated St. Paul, 13 to 6, and Cincinnati downed Cleveland, 18 to 0, in the other games of the day.

CROWDER TO OPPOSE YANKS HERE TODAY

extending a winning streak to ten games in a row. They were leading the league by a small margin at the time and immediately dropped in a slump, jumping from the Hub to Detroit to start their second Western invasion, losing the leadership on July 13, and coming home trailing the Mackmen by several games. Manush has never been himself since, except for an occasional flash.

The Nats kept on fighting, however, and just when it looked like they might make a comeback, Pitcher Fred Marberry, ace of the flinging corps, fractured a bone in his right wrist. He is expected to be back on the job again during the next Western trip, but unless the Mackmen slump more than reasonably can be expected of them, these two blows have already killed any pennant chance which the Johnsons had.

CONTENDERS FOR WEEK-DAY LEAGUES' TITLE

Playground Girl Athletes To Seek Track Title Today

Rosedale Team to Battle for Third Successive Post Cup, With Capable Talent Filling Vacancies in 1929 Team.

THE busy summer program of the Municipal Playground Department will end today with the annual field and track meet for girls on the Plaza Playground. The first event will start at 10 o'clock and it is expected that the meet will be completed by 2 o'clock.

Miss Maude N. Parker, director of girls' activities in the playground department, will conduct the meet with the assistance of the playground directors. Miss Parker expects about 1,000 girls to take part in the game.

Rosedale Team Defends Championship.

Rosedale Playground won the girls' meet for the second consecutive year last summer but it will be confronted with a real task to have their name engraved on the trophy for the third time as there are many strong teams prepared to contest the rule of the Northeast lassies.

Mrs. Ruth Britt, director of Rosedale, has but a few of her champion squad back, but in the place of the absentees she has developed several capable performers in the dashes and field events.

Georgetown Playground's team, coached by Mrs. Abby Flynn, is expected to be a serious menace to the rest of the competitors. Mrs. Flynn has spent a great deal of time on her girls and has rounded out a large squad of exceptional performers.

Virginia Avenue to Have Strong Team.

Virginia Avenue Playground is another of the many that must be reckoned with in the struggle for The Washington Post Cup, which is the reward to the winning team.

Miss Thelma Smith, director of that playground, has devoted considerable time in attempting to turn out a winner.

In addition to The Post Cup, which will go to the winning team, girls who are first, second and third in each event will receive gold, silver and bronze medals as gifts from The Post.

The shower of last evening has put the track and field in splendid shape. The dusty condition of the field on Tuesday when the boys' meet was held has been remedied and apparently the fair athletes will have a pleasant day for their activities.

Capital City League Plans for Grid Races

Sandlot football championships in the 150-pound and 135-pound classes will again be decided under the direction of the Capital City League. League officials announced last night that sections for lighter teams will be arranged if there is enough demand among the smaller elevens.

The first move toward the coming grid races will be made tomorrow night when the managers of the 150-pound elevens will meet at The Post at 8 o'clock. On Monday night the managers of the 135-pound clubs will gather.

Alexandria's Playground Meet Scheduled Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 27—Alexandria's annual playground track meet and field day will be held Friday on the Alexandria High School field.

The four playgrounds of the city, Friends, Washington, George Mason and Lee will have entries in the various events. The card has been so arranged that both boys and girls can take part. Friends playground won the honors in 1929.

Director Elson announced today that Bill Moncure would referee. Other officials will be Chunky Travers, Sidney Hancock and Charlie Stewart. The games will start at 10 o'clock in the morning.

A three-day baseball trip has been arranged by Director Corbett, of the St. Mary's Celtics. The Alexandrians will play Covington Collegians on August 30 and September 1 at Covington, Va. On Sunday, August 31, they will trek to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., for a contest.

Bill Howser, late with the Martinsburg team in the Blue Ridge League has been signed to play with the Celtics.

Fifteen players will make the trip. The team will stop at Hotel Collins, Covington. Va. Coach Mickey Kelliher has called an important practice for Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. He requests all players to report promptly at Baggett's stadium.

An important meeting of all committees of the Old Dominion Boat Club to map out final plans for the gigantic regatta here on Labor Day has been called for tonight.

President P. P. Carver and General Chairman Magnus Bales will make final reports at this session. Twelve clubs from foreign jurisdictions have entered in the Middle States regatta and leading oarsmen in the Nation will be here for the event.

Several thousand rowing enthusiasts will witness the races from the banks of the Potomac.

Gerard Edwards, popular Alexandria ball player, is starring with the Washington Union Printers in the International Typographical championship baseball tourney in Pittsburgh. Last year, Edwards won the honors for home-run hitting and so far in games played he has slapped out two drives for the circuit.

The Baraca Bible Class Nine will meet the Southern Clerks on Thursday afternoon. This game will be played on Duncan's Field. Lane's boys are anxious to score a victory in this series.

Dayton Tossers Lead Weyers Cave in Series

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., Aug. 27.—Dayton took the lead in the bicounty series today with a 3-to-2 victory over Weyers Cave in the third contest. Stiteler and Weber hooked up in the most brilliant mound duel of the season, with the former gaining the edge when Dayton made effective use of six sacrifice bunts. Brilliant fielding featured on both sides.

The game was the fastest of the season, being played in 1 hour and 20 minutes. McDaniel and Buford clouted triples for Weyers Cave, but the former's was wasted when he tried to steal home.

The clubs clash in the fourth game at Staunton tomorrow.

Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Weyers Cave	001 000 100—2	6	3

Stiteler and Coffman; Weber and Bear.

Four Races Feature Fredericksburg Fair

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Aug. 27.—A disappointingly small crowd attended the Fredericksburg fair today, the second day of its four-day exhibition. The second day is usually the most popular, but the attendance was far short of the usual large crowd.

Four good running races were offered with the following results:

Six and one-half furlongs; purse, $125. Heith's Back Rope, first; Everhart's Warrenton, second; Miles' Bachelor Lass, third.

Seven-eighths mile; purse, $125. Miles' Lawn, first; Miles' King Prime, second; Simpson's Maryland Boy, third.

Four and one-half furlongs; purse, $100. Miles' Bluemont, first; Leith Bros.' White Frost, second; Waugh's Pride of Glenmore, third.

Two-mile steeplechase; purse, $150. Weavers' Mine Bet, first; Heith's Beverly Wick, second; Weaver's Paul Pricer, third.

DEL RAY SCHEDULED.

The Del Ray A. C. Nine will entertain the Majestic Radio Nine Sunday and wants a game for Labor Day. Phone Manager Martin at Alexandria 2067-W after 5 o'clock.

.489 AVERAGE OF GOODWIN IS BEST

Many Star Hitters in Georgetown Church League Race.

THE Calvary Baptist Drakes not only won the pennant of the Georgetown Church League, but it also supplied the batting champion in Goodwin. The batters in this circuit appeared to have a big edge on the pitchers as the long list of big averages will show. Goodwin, in 14 games, banged out 23 hits in 47 times at bat, for an average of .489. Ball, of the same club, had a mark of .583, but was in only seven games.

Players who played in ten or more contests and finished with high averages are Buscher, Calvary, .459; Davidson, Calvary, .456; Tolley, Vermont Avenue, .451; Z. C. Hodges, West Washington, .420; Duryee, Eldbrooke, .420; Hunt, Eldbrooke, .411; Derrick, Eldbrooke, .400; Beall, Grace Episcopal, 357.

Pullman-Repair Shop Game Delayed by Rain

The week-day leagues championship game between the Pullman and District Repair Shop Nines scheduled for yesterday was postponed due to rain and will be played tomorrow. Today the Tile Setters, representing the Industrial League and winners of their first contest, will meet the Naval Hospital Club, champion of the Government League. The game will be played on the Terminal Field.

WAR COLLEGE NINE WINS IN 12TH

Spaulding's 4th Hit Beats Ft. Holabird by 11-10 Count.

SHORTSTOP SPAULDING proved the hero for the Army War College team yesterday. After poling out two doubles and a homer which figured prominently in the earlier scoring, Spaulding slammed out a solid single in the twelfth inning with two men on and two out to give the War College Team an 11-to-10 victory over the Fort Holabird, Md., club yesterday.

The game was a sea-saw affair until the score was tied in the seventh. The visitors took a 6-to-0 lead in the first two frames but the War College came back to even the count with three runs in each of the third and fourth innings and went three runs in front in the fifth. Camp Holabird tied the game in the seventh. In the opening of the twelfth, Holabird scored a run and it looked as if the game was over.

Pitcher Deavers, of Army War College, went the route and turned in his ninth straight victory. He settled down after the seventh inning and pitched masterful ball.

Fast Ball Martin, ace of the Holabird staff, failed to last an inning.

Army Medicos Battle Takoma Tigers to Tie

The Takoma Tigers, champions of the Capital City League in the Montgomery County Division and the Army Medicos battled to a 6-to-6 tie yesterday. The game was called at the end of the sixth inning due to a heavy downpour of rain. The Takoma Tigers started in the first inning by scoring five runs on three triples and three singles of Woods of the Medicos, before one man had been retired. Franko was called to the rescue and then retired the side in order for that inning. During the six innings that Franko pitched only four Tigers reached first base, two on scratch singles, one free walk and one on an error. He also fanned five while Skinner of the Tigers was fanning four Medicos. The feature of the game was a long running catch made by Lewey in deep right field, of a long fly from the bat of Francis.

James of the Tigers and Brown of the Medicos each made two timely singles. Saturday the Medicos play the strong District Firemen on the Walter Reed Athletic Field. The Firemen defeated the Medicos in the early part of the season and the Medicos will be after their scalps. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

Capital City League Nines In 5 Titular Games Sunday

Mt. Rainier Meets Hyattsville; Columbia Heights Faces St. Joe; Senior and Junior Rivals in Play-Off Games.

WHAT the Capital City League baseball schedule for Sunday lacks in quantity it certainly makes up in quality. The day will mark a continuation of the District section race which now lies between Columbia Heights and the Anacostia Eagles, while Mount Rainier will attempt to clinch the Prince Georges County title in its game at Byrd Stadium with the Hyattsville Club.

The rivalry between the Olmsted Grill and C. A. O'Brien Nines will reach a climax when these rivals meet in the deciding game of their series for the senior class championship on the North Ellipse diamond at 3 o'clock.

The championship play-off series between the Acme Printers and the Lionels for the Junior class pennant will get under way on the West Ellipse at 1 o'clock.

Columbia Heights Holds Slight Lead.

Columbia Heights, which has a protest pending against the Army Medicos, hold a half-game lead in the District section and is faced with the task of getting by St. Joseph's Sunday. This game is tentatively scheduled for the Plaza diamond.

The Anacostia Eagles move over to the Burroughs Field at Seventeenth and Otis streets northeast, to play the Burroughs A. C. The Eagles must win to stay on the heels of Columbia Heights.

In the other District section game, the Army Medicos will be hosts to the Foxall A. C. at Walter Reed.

Prince Georges County fans are awaiting Sunday's clash of Mount Rainier and Hyattsville with keen anticipation. The game is a replay of the last battle between these old rivals, which resulted in an 8-to-6 victory for the Hiser clan, but was ordered played over by the Capital City League officials because of the use of ineligible players by Hyattsville.

Hyattsville Victory Will Tie Race.

Mount Rainier's loss to the second-place Dixie Pig aggregation last week, by a 5-to-3 score prevented it from clinching the county title and cut its lead to one game. A victory for Mount Rainier will cinch the county honors, but a defeat by Hyattsville will end the series in a tie with the Pigs and make a play-off necessary.

The ancient rivalry between these two outstanding Prince Georges County clubs will flare anew on Sunday, as Hyattsville, although eliminated by the Pigs three weeks ago, will be battling to conquer Mount Rainier and give Hugh Waldrop's fighting nine another shot at the title, thereby avenging the recent Mount Rainier protest upheld against them.

"Tom" Mudd, the Hyattsville curveball artist, who has two victories to his credit over Mount Rainier, will probably draw the mound assignment, while "Gumps" Bailey and Freshour will be ready for any emergency call.

Manager Jesse Weidman, while keenly disappointed that his charges did not cop the title in last week's crucial contest, is priming his team for Sunday's guelling ordeal.

He will make his pitching selection from his well-balanced trio of flingers, Frank Waple, "Bob" Lyon and "Happy" Quigley, in an endeavor to bring Mount Rainier its eighth county title in the last ten years.

Bureau Duckpin League Organized for Season

The Bureau Duckpin League was organized at a meeting of the employees of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Officers elected were A. L. Mayhew, president; Thomas Nugent, vice president; William E. Anderson, secretary-treasurer-scorer.

Ten teams entered at the meeting and it is expected that twelve will face the barrier about the middle of September.

The league will use a two-thirds handic

STOCKS INDEX GAINS DESPITE SOFT SPOTS

GRAINS UNDER PRESSURE

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—Strenuous efforts to extend the rally in share prices caused the largest turnover in a fortnight in today's stock market, but achieved a general advance of only little more than a point.

Vigorous operations for the advance and large scale short covering sent the general list up rapidly during the first hour, and trading quickened markedly, but the price movements became irregular and faltering toward midday. Bears found several soft spots, but on the wnole, the list was well supported. The price index of 90 shares showed a net gain of 1 3-10 points. Transfers totaled 2,200,190 shares.

The most conspicuous items of the day's news were the weekly steel trade reviews, which did not entirely back up the optimism instilled by preliminary estimates published the previous day indicating a gain of 3½ per cent in steel mill operating ratios. Iron Age placed ingot production for the entire industry at 54 per cent of theoretical capacity, a gain of only 1 per cent. American Metal stated that operations had stepped to around the 56 per cent rate of July, but added that weekly variations "do not seem to be of much significance."

Steel Composite Prices Drop.

Marked improvement, however, has not been expected in the steel industry until after Labor Day, and estimates of the probable extent of the advance have been rather conservative. While Iron Age's composite price for finished steel showed a slight decline for the week, the price structure seems to be firming, with consumers willing to place orders well into the future at present levels, and producers inclined to hold out for better prices.

The weekly petroleum statistics showed a moderate gain in crude output, but another large reduction in gasoline stocks. Rumors of probable crude price cuts, however, continue to worry some speculative quarters. F. W. Dodge's statistics on building contracts placed were favorable, the latest week bringing the August daily average above that of July. Railway earnings statements for July, while showing little improvement in gross income, are showing some progress in cutting down operating expenses, and on the whole have been better than expected. Credit conditions were about unchanged, with call money officially at 2 per cent, although a little firmer undertone was reported.

Strong stocks included an assortment of utilities, amusements, merchandising issues, and specialties. Rails were dull. U. S. Steel fluctuated between a gain of a point, and a loss of a point, and closed about steady, off ⅛. Radio finished off ⅛. American Can sold up nearly 2, then lost most of its gain.

Allied Chemical Up 8 Points.

Shares closing a point or two higher included American Telephone, Atchison, Columbia Graphophone, Delaware & Hudson, Electric Power & Light, American & Foreign Power, International Nickel, McKeesport Tinplate, Radio Keith, Remington Rand, Sears Roebuck, Stone & Webster, Union Carbide, and Westinghouse Electric. Allied Chemical gained 8, and Safeway 3.

Bears found several soft spots. Vanadium was sent down 5 points, but it rallied about 1. International Telephone was depressed more than 2 to within a fraction of its minimum price. Kroger dropped more than 2 to within about 2 points of its low. On report of first half earnings of only 12 cents a share, Oliver Farm and Bohn Aluminum dropped to new lows, and Celotex was depressed 3. American Rolling Mill and Gillette were also under pressure.

In the commodity markets, cotton closed steady, and raw sugar was a little firmer, but grains were again under pressure. Wheat lost about 1½ cents on reports of large Russian offerings in the European markets, and corn sagged about a cent.

Foreign exchanges were largely steady to firm, but Brazil and Spain again sagged. French francs and sterling were steady.

RAILS HEAD BONDS' CONTINUED CLIMB

For Second Successive Day Averages Reach New Peaks for 1930.

B. & O. 4½s ARE ACTIVE

New York, Aug. 27 (A.P.).—The bond market was strong today, and for the second successive day, prices reached a new peak for the year as measured by the average.

Railroad bonds provided the leadership for the advance and there was good buying also of high grade issues in the public utility and industrial sections. Another crop of new 1930 high prices was nurtured by the broad demand. Trading volume was on a par with yesterday and far above the average for August which had been a quiet month.

Call money held at 2 per cent and time money held unchanged. The spurt in activity was attributed to the better tone of the stock market which has increased the favor in which bonds with stock privileges are held, and there was some buying in anticipation of reinvestment demand after the turn of the new month.

Second Grade Rails Lag.

The inquiry for railroad obligations aided both high grade liens and convertibles, with the turnover in the latter the largest in several weeks. Second and third rails lagged as they have throughout the present movement.

Large purchases were made of Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Boston & Maine 5s, Chicago Great Western 4s, St. Paul 5s and adjustment 5s, Chicago & Western Indiana 4s, which reached a new peak, Erie 5s of 1975, Missouri Pacific 5s of 77, New Haven refunding 4½s, Pennsylvania debenture 4½s, St. Louis-San Francisco 4½s and Texas Pacific 5s B.

American & Foreign Power 5s came into prominence as the most active issue. On a large turnover the bond touched a new high and closed firm. American Telephone issues repeated their best figures reached recently.

Fisk Rubber 8s Sag.

Among industrials, a broad demand developed for United Drug of Delaware 5s and the bond reached a new 1930 high. Inland Steel 4½s, Lorillard 5½s and International Match 5s registered new peaks. Fisk Rubber 8s, Wickwire Spencer Steel 7s, and White Sewing Machine 6s sagged.

A wide list of convertible and warrant issues attracted buying today. Warner Brothers 6s advanced 1½ and General Theaters 6s 1½ in sympathy with strength of amusement issues on the stock market. American Telephone 4½s, one of the market leaders, gained 1¼ on a small volume. International Telephone 4½s sagged 1 point.

There was a better inquiry for best grade foreign issues and standard issues showed more improvement than in some time. German 7s were weak. Peruvian bonds turned upward, the first 6s gained 1¼ and second 6s 1½.

U. S. Governments were dull and firm.

FREIGHT LOADINGS SHOW SLIGHT GAIN

Association Figures During Week of August 16 Up by 18,666 Cars.

COMPARISONS ARE GIVEN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

An improvement in freight movement was revealed by the American Railway Association yesterday when its car service division announced that loading of revenue freight for the latest reported week, that ended August 16, showed 922,823 cars, which was an increase of 18,666 cars above the preceding recorded week.

Compared with the corresponding week last year, however, this was a reduction of 179,744 cars, and also a decrease of 135,086 cars below the comparative week in 1928. All districts reported declines in the total loading of all commodities, compared not only with the comparative week in 1929, but also with that of two years ago.

Revenue Freight Loading Figures.

	1930.	1929.
4 weeks in January	3,349,424	3,571,455
4 weeks in February	3,505,962	3,766,136
5 weeks in March	4,414,625	4,815,937
4 weeks in April	3,619,293	3,986,142
5 weeks in May	4,598,555	5,182,402
4 weeks in June	3,719,447	4,291,881
4 weeks in July	3,555,731	4,160,078
Week ended Aug. 9	918,335	1,106,920
Week ended Aug. 9	904,157	1,092,153
Week ended Aug. 16	922,823	1,102,567
Total	29,508,352	33,077,671

Its July statement shows that net railway operating income of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. for that month was $3,649,079, a decrease of $1,529,868 from the same month last year, that for the seven months being $21,371,934, a loss of $6,297,853 from the same period in 1929.

American Ice Earnings.

Net earnings of American Ice Co. and subsidiaries here and elsewhere, for July, after interest, but before Federal taxes and depreciation, were $1,135,890, comparing with $1,095,842 in July last year.

A syndicate headed by the Guaranty Co. of New York and Lee, Higginson & Co., are offering $36,500,000 New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Co. refunding mortgage 4½ per cent gold bonds, series C, to mature September 1, 1978, at 97¾, to yield over 4.6 per cent.

These bonds are issued entirely for refunding purposes and will be a direct mortgage lien on the existing fixed railroad property and railroad equipment subject to $34,412,000 outstanding underlying bonds and equipment obligations.

INDIA COMMISSION HEAD TO PRESENT TALK ON PROBLEM

Address by Sir John Simon to Close Capital Visit of Foreign Lawyers.

DINNER IS SPONSORED BY BAR ASSOCIATION

Luncheon Given Attorneys Who Are Later Guests of Stimson.

The Washington visit of lawyers from Great Britain, France and Canada will be closed tonight by a dinner at the Carlton Hotel given by the Federal Bar Association.

The principal event of the occasion will be an address by Sir John Allesbrook Simon, head of Great Britain's India Statutory Commission. He will discuss "Some Aspects of the Indian problem," dealing with the report on India recently returned by his commission. The address will be his first public utterance on the Indian situation since his arrival in this country.

Many Distinguished Guests.

Among those who are expected to be present at the dinner are Solicitor General Thomas D. Thatcher, Justice Willis Van Devanter and Justice Butler, associate justice of the United States Supreme Court; Clyde B. Atchison, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, and judicial and governmental officials of Great Britain.

Sir John will be introduced by William R. Vallance, of the State Department, president of the Federal Bar Association. Mr. Vallance is in charge of arrangements for the dinner together with Claude R. Branch, Albert E. Stethen and William R. Reece. The address will be broadcast over the Columbia Broadcasting System through Station WMAL at 9 o'clock. After the dinner the visiting lawyers will be guests at a reception at the French Embassy. They will visit Annapolis tomorrow and later will go to Baltimore.

Stimson Holds Reception.

The visitors planned to devote this morning to sightseeing, golf and other recreation. At 12:30 o'clock they will be guests of the Barristers Club at a luncheon. This afternoon they will visit Mount Vernon.

A luncheon was given the attorneys yesterday at Stone Ridge, the country place of George E. Hamilton. Yesterday afternoon Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and Mrs. Stimson entertained at a garden party at their residence, Woodley. A number of private dinners were given last night, after which a reception was held at the British Embassy.

Bridegroom States His Age Fractionally

For the first time in the history of the District Supreme Court an applicant for a marriage license gave his age fractionally. Oddly, however, the bride's age was given only decimally.

The applicant, Richard Carter, of Richmond, Va., stated he is 42 and seven-twelfths years old. The bride, though, is 40—no fractions. Carter obtained a license to marry Lillian C. Tisdale, also of Richmond. Both have been married and divorced, the former in Philadelphia and the latter in Richmond. The Rev. Howard F. Downs was named as officiating minister.

Loffler to Entertain Capital Kiwanians

Washington Kiwanians will be the guests of Andrew D. Loffler at Bay Ridge, Md., this afternoon. Mr. Loffler, a former member of the Washington Club has invited President James R. Edmunds and the entire club membership to be his guests during the afternoon and evening. In addition to the supper which will be served at the Baur House, Bay Ridge, there will be a golf tournament at the Annapolis Roads course. The Washington Kiwanians have arranged to make the trip to and from Bay Ridge by buses which will leave the Capital Garage at 11 a. m., and 1:30 and 3:30 p. m.

There will also be a luncheon at the Washington Hotel at 12:30 p. m. without entertainment for those who can not avail themselves of Mr. Loffler's invitation, according to Mr. Edmunds.

Thrift Shop Opens E Street Quarters

The Thrift Shop, which uses its profits for work among poor children, has opened new quarters on E street near Tenth street northwest. Officers of the charity shop have issued an appeal for aid.

Any article of wearing apparel or household furniture is sought by the committee. Proceeds from sales are used to assist the Children's Hospital, Child Welfare Society, Children's Country Home and the Pre-Natal Clinic of Columbia Hospital.

Dismissal Urged For Patrolman

Trial Board Hears Him Admit Taking Drink While on Duty.

The Police Trial Board yesterday voted to recommend the dismissal of Policeman John R Harris, of the Fourteenth Precinct, for taking a drink while on duty, following a hearing at the Sixth Precinct Station.

Harris admitted taking the drink on the night of August 18, but contended that he had done so at the suggestion of Dr. A Barklie Coulter, house physician at Wardman Park Hotel, to ease a stomach ailment.

Charges of being under the influence of liquor while on duty and driving a private citizen's car were dismissed. The policeman was said to have collided with another auto in a borrowed car after he took the drink in the apartment of a man who was known only as "Jimmy."

Ford to Be Brigadier General.

Col. Stanley H. Ford, assistant chief of staff for intelligence, War Department, has been recommended for appointment as brigadier general. He will sail immediately for Europe, relieving Brig. Gen. William W. Hart as military attache to France. The promotion was announced by the Third Corps Area in Baltimore.

Rice, of 925 Twenty-sixth street northwest, who won the first prize in the 6 months to 2-year-old class.

STILL NEAR LAUREL RAIDED BY AGENTS

Deserted 3,000-Gallon Plant Destroyed With Huge Mash Supply.

SOURCE OF CORN WHISKY

A 3,000-gallon distilling plant and 70,000 gallons of mash were seized and destroyed yesterday when Federal agents, acting on a tip furnished by Sergt. George M. Little, raided a farm near Laurel, Md. No arrests were made, however. The huge installation was deserted when the raiding squad swooped down on the farm. It is thought that the operators of the plant had been tipped off, as the day's work had not begun when the raid was made.

The plant was established in a little clearing about 100 feet from the busy highway between Laurel and Bowie. Thick woods screened it from the gaze of passersby. The outfit consisted of a 2,000-gallon still, a 1,000-gallon still, 70 1,000-gallon vats of mash and a 300-gallon doubler, all fired by a 60-horsepower boiler. Three steam pumps, 250 cases of empty fruit jars, a number of kegs and 76 cases and 5 300-gallon casks of the finished product were found.

Also included in the equipment were 4 tons of coke for firing the boiler, three 1,000-gallon coil boxes and hundreds of feet of rubber hose and copper and galvanized pipe. The raiders said the plant was one of the cleanest they have ever raided, in startling contrast with the usual filthiness of such illicit manufactories.

The plant produced only corn whisky, and the greater part, if not all, of the output was sent to Washington. It was set up by, and operated for two of the largest liquor dealers in the city.

Sergt. Little, head of the flying liquor squad, gathered the information which led to the raid on the plant. He pieced together the fragments of news which came to him through his own private channels and the descent on the outfit followed.

The raiders were led by W. R. Blandford, chief of the local branch of the dry forces. They surrounded the place early yesterday morning, but found no one at work. After several hours of waiting they decided that the operators, having information that a raid was to be made, would not show up, and an agent was sent to the city to bring back dynamite for the destruction. Last night only fragments of odorous wood and metal were left to mark the site of Washington's once chief distillery.

District Budget Ready for Bureau

Estimates Totaling About $48,600,000 Approved by Commission.

Work of compiling the 1932 budget for the District in its final form has been practically completed by Maj. D. A. Donovan, District auditor, and probably will be submitted to the Bureau of the Budget tomorrow.

Approval of the estimates totaling about $48,600,000 to operate the District during 1932 has been given by the Commissioners, and the auditor's office now is putting the requests into proper shape for their presentation to the Budget Bureau.

The total amount of the District's estimated costs for 1931 shows practically no change from the sum of approximately $48,600,000 which was approved by Congress for 1932, although differences in certain nonrecurring items will add to the appropriations for some departments and decrease those of others slightly, it was pointed out.

Capital Newspaperman Speaks to Rotarians

William Kennedy, Washington newspaperman, addressed the Rotary Club yesterday at its weekly luncheon in the Willard Hotel and urged that representative organizations of the city assist in the fight to obtain a more liberal contribution by the Federal Government to the District budget.

Mr. Kennedy explained to the Rotarians that the commission appointed recently by Speaker Longworth to consider the amount that the Federal Government should contribute to the local budget is composed of members of the House who are hostile to increased financial aid from Federal funds.

Dances Scheduled At Sylvan Theater

Final Outdoor Event of Season to Be Held Tomorrow.

A group of local dancers, directed by Miss Mabel Jones, and the Community Center Band, conducted by James E. Miller, will offer a joint program at the Sylvan Theater tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. It will be the final outdoor event in the summer series offered at the Monument, under the joint supervision of the Office of Public Buildings and Parks and the Community Center Department of the Public Schools.

Dance numbers will include "Tableaux Plastique," by Hazel Dowling, Therrall Smith, Claribel Hughes, Flaxie Pinkett; "A Silver Cloud," by Violet Warfield; "Indian and Deer," by Misses Smith and Pinkett; "Bird of Sorrow," by Miss Mabel Jones, and "The Bright Shawl," a Gypsy dance, by the ensemble, including Doris Carter.

Band numbers will include: March, "Royal Hussar" (King); waltz, "La Belle de Cordova" (Luscomb); "Bridal Rose," and "Sparklets" (Miles). The band will likewise accompany the dances.

Mrs. Gabrielle Pelham, general secretary for divisions 10-13 in the Community Center Department, has had charge of arrangements for this final program of the season.

BANKRUPTCY ASKED FOR THOMAS FIRM

Involuntary Petition Filed Against Company Whose Head Recently Died.

CREDITORS CITE ACTS

Involuntary bankruptcy proceedings have been instituted in District Supreme Court against the J. Benson Thomas Co., whose president, J. Benson Thomas died recently under mysterious circumstances.

Mark McK. Sloan, the New York Decorating Co., Inc., and W. Gilbert Dent, trading as the Real Estate Stimulator Co., the petitioning creditors, assert that the company committed an act of bankruptcy on July 31 when preference was shown to another creditor.

Thomas' body was found in a ravine close to Chain Bridge on August 15 after he had been missing four days in his automobile. Although it was at first believed that he had either been killed or had taken his own life, an autopsy established that he had died of heart disease.

The family believed that he was wandering in the woods while suffering from amnesia. His car was found abandoned the day after he disappeared from his office.

His brother, Donn Thomas, said at the time of his disappearance, that the real estate operator was in financial difficulties and had been working long hours for several months in an effort to recover his losses.

$53,462 Is Sought In Bankruptcy Case

John A. Reilly, trustee in bankruptcy for the Fletcher Fireproofing Co., filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $53,462.98 from Richard G. Fletcher, of 4800 Chattel lane northwest, former president of the bankrupt firm.

Mr. Reilly tells the court that on November 4, 1929, Mr. Fletcher, in his capacity as president of the firm, filed a schedule of assets and liabilities under oath and avowed that he was indebted to the company in the sum sought in the suit. The money, according to the declaration of suit, is due for materials furnished by the company to the defendant prior to the filing of the petition in bankruptcy. Attorneys Simon, Koenigsberger, Young & Brez appear for the trustee-plaintiff.

WILLIAM GRIFFITH DEAD.

Employed as Printer at Washington Post for 34 Years.

William Griffith, 56 years old, employed as a printer on The Washington Post for 34 years, died yesterday at his home, 2124 North Capitol street, following illness of a year. Although a native of Pennsylvania, he had spent practically all his life in the Capital. He was a member of the Junior Order of American Mechanics.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mayane Griffith; a son, William Roy, and four sisters. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning from the late residence.

MEETING PLANS LAID BY FIDAC AUXILIARY

Leaders Prepare to Open Sixth Congress Here in September.

ALLIES TO SEND ENVOYS

Leaders of the American Fidac Auxiliary, meeting yesterday at the Carlton Hotel, formulated definite plans for the sixth annual congress of the organization, which will be held here September 18 to 21.

Delegates from nine European nations allied with the United States in the World War will attend the sessions, which is to be held here simultaneously with the eleventh annual congress of Fidac.

Mrs. Robert Walbridge, of New Hampshire, vice president of Fidac Auxiliary for the United States, presided at yesterday's meeting. She said that Princess Alexandrine Cantacuzene, of Roumania, president of Fidac Auxiliary, has granted permission for the Washington sessions to be open to the public in order to permit Gold-Star Mothers to attend.

Among those to attend yesterday's meeting were Maj. Julius I. Peyser, vice president of Fidac for the United States; Mrs. William F. Schofield, Mrs. Lemuel Bolles, Mrs. Amos A. Fries, Mrs. Harlan Wood, Mrs. J. Miller Kenyon, Mrs. Frank L. Peckham, Mrs. John Lewis Smith, Miss Mary Elizabeth Brigham and Mrs. John William MacCauley.

Fidac, an interallied former service men's organization, was organized shortly after the war to promote better relations between the former allies.

The Fidac Auxiliary, organized six years ago with a similar purpose, has now nearly 1,000,000 members in ten countries. The American Legion Auxiliary is the United States member.

Sessions of the Fidac Auxiliary convention here next month will be held at the Memorial Continental Hall. An elaborate entertainment program is being arranged for the foreign delegates.

$30,000 Damage Asked In Auto-Trolley Crash

Two suits for an aggregate of $30,000 were filed yesterday in District Supreme Court against the Washington Railway & Electric Co., as the result of an automobile-trolley car collision July 6 at Massachusetts avenue and North Capitol street.

Morris Nathason and his wife, Gertrude Nathason, of 1000 Kenyon street northwest, the plaintiffs, allege they were severely injured in the smash-up, and assert the accident result from negligence on the part of the trolley car motorman. Nathason wants $10,000 for personal injuries, damage to his automobile and loss of his wife's services and medical expenses. Mrs. Nathason asks $20,000 damages for alleged personal injuries. Attorneys Leonard J. Mather and Samuel F. Beach appear for the plaintiffs in both actions.

F. TRUBEE DAVISON PURCHASES ESTATE WITH FLYING FIELD

Assistant War Secretary Is Likely to Use Plane on Trips to New Home.

DUCK HUNTING ABOUNDS AT RETREAT ON ISLAND

South River Property Will Serve as Residence During Summers.

F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics, will be able to fly to and from work through the purchase of a summer estate containing a large landing field. The estate, purchase of which was announced yesterday by the L. S. Scott Corporation, is at the mouth of South River, just below Annapolis, Md.

One of the well known places of this section, the property consists of an island containing 183 acres, improved by the main residence and necessary outbuildings, with extensive frontage on South River and Chesapeake Bay. In addition, there is a large field easily adaptable for the airplane landing place and a good yacht anchorage. The island is connected with the mainland by a drawbridge.

It is understood Assistant Secretary Davison will use the property as a summer residence and shooting place, excellent duck hunting abounding there during the season. During his occupancy of the estate, it is expected Mr. Davison will fly between his summer home and Bolling Field.

Negotiations for acquisition of the property were handled by the Scott Corporation, acting for the former owners, the estate of the late Harry Busick, of Baltimore, and Sandoz, Inc., of this city, representing the purchaser. The consideration involved in the transaction was not disclosed.

Tree Lovers' Group Forming in Capital

Mrs. Berry Enlists Aid of Washingtonians to Curb Drought Effect.

Mrs. M. de Clare Berry, leader in D. A. R. and civic activities, announced yesterday that she is enlisting interest in organizing a Tree Lovers Association to save trees of Washington from effects of the drought and to take care of them continually.

Heads of citizens associations, District officials and others have expressed a desire to aid in the proposal, she said. The plan is to have each resident water trees in front of his home.

"The greatest difficulty will doubtless be with business men," she said, "but I think we will be able to convince them that the presence of green trees in front of their establishments will add to their trade."

J. E. Wright, B. F. Smith Retire From U. S. Jobs

Announcement was made yesterday of the retirement from Government service of J. Eliot Wright, assistant passenger transportation rate auditor in the office of the Army finance officer, and Benjamin F. Smith, clerk in the finance department at large.

Mr. Wright had served 32 years with the Government. He is secretary of the Association of Oldest Inhabitants of the District. Mr. Smith had 51 years of service to his credit. Mr. Wright is responsible for improvements in the handling of settlement of transportation accounts. He entered the service as a transportation rate clerk. Mr. Smith served successively as subsistence clerk, quartermaster clerk, general service and finance clerk.

Woman, Baby Injured As Auto Hits Trolley

Mrs. Bess Pomms, 26 years old, and her 2½-year-old son, William, of 558 Columbia road northwest, suffered cuts on the head and face last night when the auto in which they were riding skidded on the wet pavement and collided with a street car at Georgia avenue and Barry place northwest. They were treated at home.

The auto was operated by Ernest McLucas, colored, 24 years old, of 1124 Twelfth street northwest. H. J. McLaughlin was conductor on the street car.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

HIGH and low, Luella ransacked the house.

"What on earth are you looking for?" I asked, shoved out of every retreat.

"The ink——"

"The ink? Why the ink?"

"To write the invitations——"

"The invitations? What's coming off now?"

"A picnic," she flashed.

Invitations to a picnic. Whoever heard of such a thing?

"Where'd you get that brilliant idea?"

She informed me: "When you squealed about the high cost of a banquet, I thought a picnic——"

* * * *

"Oh, you did? A picnic, for how many people?"

On her fingers she started to call off the roll: "There'll be about 35——"

"Thirty-five? That's an awful mob on a picnic. Besides, you could give a banquet almost for the cost of the picnic, counting the pickles——"

"Not this picnic," explained Luella. "Everybody'll bring their own food——"

There was an idea.

"What kind-a food will they bring?"

"Any kind they like," she said. "I'm leaving the choice to them."

"That's something. Suppose they all bring the same thing? Hot dogs, for instance!"

"Then, it'll be a hot dog picnic."

Me? I always like fried chicken on a picnic, and told her so.

* * * *

"In that case," sighed Luella, "I'll fry a chicken."

"But if everybody else has hot dogs and I have fried chicken they'll——"

She gave me a look. "They'll, they'll what?"

"They'll think I'm tryin' to 'high hat' 'em!"

* * * *

Luella laughed. "Don't be silly. Nobody could get 'high hat' eatin' fried chicken at a picnic——"

In that light, of course, she was right. So I agreed to finance the great out-o'-doors fiesta.

"When will it take place, this picnic?"

"Next Sunday," said Luella, "if all the answers to my invitation get back in time."

If the guests don't accept, of course, there'll be no picnic, and it may not be a picnic even if there is one.

GOVERNORS TO VIEW PARADE OF FIREMEN

Pollard and Ritchie Coming to Capital for Labor Day Program.

MANY PRIZES OFFERED

Gov. John Garland Pollard of Virginia will arrive in Washington Sunday preparatory to reviewing the annual firemen's parade on Labor Day, it was announced last night by Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, of the Fire Department, marshal of the parade.

The chief executive of Virginia will be greeted by the District Commissioners at the Willard upon his arrival, while the Commissioners will welcome Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland at the District Line on Monday and escort him to the reviewing stand on Pennsylvania avenue in front of The Post Building.

Already 29 bands and 14 drum corps have accepted invitations to participate in the parade and various contests which will be features of the day, and many more are expected to accept before Monday, Sergt. Bargagni said.

A concert will be given on the Capitol steps at 7 o'clock Sunday evening by the Bedford, Va., Firemen's Band, consisting of 65 men and women. The Bedford delegation also will include 50 members of the fire company and a group of more than 100 citizens who will arrive Sunday morning by special train. Among these will be Mayor J. Galloway Brown and State Senator Hunter Miller.

Arrangements are being made also for concerts to be given on Sunday at various points in the District by the Tall Cedars Band of Salem, N. J.; the Accordion Band of Morristown, N. J., and the New Kensington, Pa., Band, which will arrive here on that day.

Sergt. Bargagni called attention to the fact that the parade, which will last between two and two and one-half hours this year, will have many features especially planned for the amusement of children. In the line will be more than 100 clowns, he said, and many other comedy features.

In addition to a band contest and a drum corps contest in which the visiting firemen will vie with those of the District in their rendition of any march they may care to play, there will be 24 different contests in connection with the parade, with trophies and cash awards offered as prizes.

These awards will be made for numerical strength, appearance, beauty, comedy and originality in preparation of floats and other points, with different divisions for fraternal organizations, auxiliaries, bands, drum corps and the firemen themselves.

Police Hold Four After Beer Raids

750 Bottles of Brew Seized as Detectives Enter Two Houses.

Seven hundred and fifty bottles of beer and a quantity of whisky were seized yesterday and four persons were arrested when Sergt. John R. Leach and his vice squad swooped down on two "beer flats." The raids were made on I street near First street southwest, and on Second street northeast near C street.

Fred Hawkins, colored, 25 years old, of the 600 block of Gordon avenue northeast, and Abraham Zinberg, 23 years old, of Tenth street southeast near E street, were arrested at the Second street address. Three hundred and forty-eight bottles of alleged beer and four and one-half quarts of reputed whisky were seized. Both men were charged with the possession, and are being held at the First Precinct station.

At the I street address, 406 bottles of beer were seized, as well as two half-gallons of whisky, police say. William E. Dudley, colored, 17 years old, of I street southwest near Third street, and Harriet Ward, colored, 38 years old, of the same address, were arrested and charged with illegal possession. Both were booked at the Fourth Precinct station house and released on $500 bond.

Rum, Auto Confiscated.

Nine cases of liquor, containing 118 half-gallon jars, and an automobile were confiscated last night by Fourth Precinct Detective R. J. Barrett on B street near Third street southwest. A colored man, who was said to have been unloading the liquor, escaped.

TRAFFIC FATALITIES DROP 25 PER CENT

Number of Autos in District Increase Above Any State in Union.

68 DEATHS REPORTED

Although the number of autos in the District increased more than 19 per cent during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1930, the number of fatal accidents decreased more than 25 per cent, according to preliminary figures for the year from the office of William H. Harland, director of traffic. Figures for the previous year show 88 fatalities, while the new total is 63.

Average traffic fatalities for 78 cities throughout the country are more than 25 per hundred thousand population. In Washington the estimate is 13 deaths per hundred thousand. The percentage of increase in autos is greater in the District than in any State of the Union and more than twice the average increase.

Accidents Increase in Report.

Although there were fewer fatalities, the number of accidents reported increased from 6,684 to 7,576. Assistant Director M. O. Eldridge said that this increase might be partially accounted for by the better system of reporting accidents.

The decrease in fatal accidents is accompanied by a corresponding decline in the numbers of persons hurt in accidents. Only 2,810 persons were hurt in the period covered by the preliminary figures as compared to 3,243 in the fiscal year 1929.

The figures show that more accidents occur at 6 o'clock in the afternoon than at any other hour, and that more accidents happen on Monday than on any other day.

Accident Damage Low.

Most of the accidents where motorists were to blame were caused by reckless driving, and crossing in the middle of the block was responsible for the most of the mishaps caused by the pedestrian. The next most common cause of injuries to pedestrians was caused by children playing in the street.

More than 1,000 of the 7,637 accidents caused property damage of less than $10, and in only two cases was the damage more than $1,000. An estimate of the total property loss by accidents was not available.

In spite of the reputed decline of horse-drawn transportation, thirteen of the accidents were caused by runaway teams.

15 Larceny Charges Laid to Prisoner

Louis Carter, 42 years old, colored, no address, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Third Precinct police on fifteen charges of petty larceny and one charge of larceny from the Government. He is said to have been taking personal effects from Government employes in the War and Navy Departments.

The charge of stealing Government property was lodged against him for taking a clock, police said. Most of the loot was recovered.

Receiving Home Youth Is Sought by Police

Police were on the lookout last night for Howard Lewis, 19 years old, who escaped from the Receiving Home about 8 o'clock. He was being held for investigation into allegations of petty thefts.

Lewis was arrested Tuesday afternoon by Policeman V. C. Rantaw, of the Fourteenth Precinct, who was in plain clothes at the time. The youth, it was said, was ransacking several automobiles on Eleventh street, between E and F streets, northwest.

Cooper Asks to Sponsor Bread Line of Mission

Col. Wade H. Cooper, president of the Commercial National Bank, yesterday informed Harvey V. Prentice, superintendent of the Gospel Mission, 214-218 John Marshall place northwest, that he wished to sponsor the nightly bread and soup line at the mission.

The number of applicants for food and lodging has been unusually large for this time of year, according to Mr. Prentice, there being between 50 and 60 men in the line every night following the evangelical service.

Out Again, In Again, Wails Suspect on Check Charge

Life is just one prison after another for Arthur Below, 35-year-old Bostonian, who landed here yesterday in the company of detectives who wished to query him about some "wall paper" he hung here many months ago.

Below was an inmate of the prison at New Bedford, Mass., for nineteen months, and when he stepped from the gates there Washington was waiting. When Washington has exicted its penalty, if any, Below will be escorted to Baltimore, where some more "orphans" were delivered unto unsuspicious personages.

Checks that were issued by Below and were identified by him through the signature were passed on a hotel, a bank, a vice president of a bank and a business man. They totaled $675.

Below was shown the checks last night and he said, police charge, that he had probably passed them, but had forgotten about them. Only through his writing could he identify them. Persons on whom the checks were passed identified Below as the man who presented them, detectives said.

41 SECONDS ALOFT SETS NEW RECORD FOR MODEL GLIDER

Billie Von Bernewitz's Entry Wins Contest in Bolling Field Tournament.

FINAL EVENTS IN CLASS TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Sullivan and Salisbury Tied With 36 Points Each in Championship Race.

Remaining in the air for 41 seconds, a model glider, made and flown by Billie von Bernewitz, attained a record at Bolling Field yesterday in the third day of the District of Columbia model aircraft tournament.

In making this District record, Bernewitz defeated John Sullivan, whose glider remained aloft for 35 seconds. The winner is now at work on a man-carrying glider. John Pendleton was third in the glider contest, making a flight of 12 seconds.

Sullivan and Frank Salisbury are now running a neck-and-neck race for the District championship, each having 36 points to his credit. Salisbury has broken several records since the tournament began last Monday at the Macfarland Community Center. On Tuesday he kept a model seaplane aloft for 14½ minutes.

Final glider contests will be held tomorrow morning at the Macfarland Center when the tournament will be brought to a close. Flying will be suspended today. The District championship will go to the ace who obtains the greatest number of points in all the tournament events. The championship will be decided tomorrow morning at the indoor meet.

Outside of Sullivan and Salisbury, who are in the ace class, others who are leading are George Shipley, class A, 46 points; Frank Ball, class B, 36 points; Fremont Davis, class C, 36 points, and Harry Helmer and Jack Friedman, class D, 10 points each.

H. L. Bryan to Retire, In State Department

After 39 years' service with the Federal Government, Henry Lewis Bryan, editor of the Laws, Department of State publication, will be retired to the civil service retired list Saturday because of his advanced age.

Mr. Bryan served in the Army for three years in the latter part of the last century, and then held a clerkship in the War Department. After serving as clerk to various Senate committees, he was transferred to the State Department. He served later as secretary of the Bureau of American Republics, editor of statutes at large, in the State Department. He had served as editor of the Laws since 1926. Mr. Bryan was a graduate of the law department of Georgetown University.

Woman Is Injured When Outos Collide

Elsie Osman, 47 years old, of 4312 River road northwest, suffered severe cuts on her head, arms and legs last night when an auto in which she was riding with Charles A. Finney, of 3821 Winbom place northwest, collided with a car operated by Frank T. Gartside, of 3816 Van Ness street northwest, at Thirty-eighth and Van Ness streets.

The woman was taken to her home in the Fourteenth Precinct patrol and treated by her physician.

President Will Receive Legion Ocean Air Envoy

President Hoover will receive Russel N. Boardman, Boston pilot, who is planning a transatlantic flight to Europe early in September, at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon. He will be presented by a War Department official and accompanied by local American Legion officers.

Boardman plans to hop off from Boston for Europe the first week of next month to carry invitations to English, French, Italian and Irish veteran posts for the fall legion convention. He will land at Bolling Field at 10:30 o'clock.

7,000 Census Bureau Clerks' Pay Delayed

Saturday is a half day and Saturday is a pay day, but Sturdy is just nother dy to workers in the Census Bureu. They don't get paid then, the regular pay day, because the number of clerks in the disbursing office is too small to care for the large number of clerks on a per diem basis.

Furthermore, they don't get paid on Monday either, that being a holiday. More than one trip, it is understood, has been canceled because of lack of funds. So its a slim week-end for many of the 7,000 clerks in the Bureau.

St. Elizabeth's Patient Enjoys Brief Freedom

Police early last night brought to a quick end a walk, without leave, of one of the patients of St. Elizabeths Hospital outside the walls. He gave his name as Sanford Adams, 22 years old, and said he was "hunting rabbits."

Adams was seen climbing over the front wall by John E. Thompson, colored, of 744 Barry place southeast. He was itaer returned to the hospital.

Artillery Ordered to Alabama.

Secretary of War Hurley has directed that the Sixty-ninth Coast Artillery, antiaircraft, which is now at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, be moved to Fort McClellan, Ala., about November 30. The regiment will remain at Fort McClellan until Fort Crockett, Tex., becomes available as its permanent station by the transfer of the Third Attack Group to Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La.
